Fires add to weather woes

Street and river traffic were hampered as heavy new snow today added to the problems associated with earlier storms that had left nine inches of snow on the ground Monday. And residential fires this week intensified the severity of the weather-related woes.

Quad-City schools closed Monday but resumed "and continued in operation today.

An explosion of unknown origin at 2:15 p.m. Wednesday destroyed the 10,000 mobile home of James Cook at 141 Village Green Mobile Home Park, 3801 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

Heat from the fire caught the mobile home of William Weidman on Lot 230 on fire, doing an estimated $7,000 damage.

"We were at the scene quickly, right after we got the call, but the entire rear of the Cook home was engulfed in flame, with fire shooting out from both sides," C. Arnold Rutherford, Long Lake fire chief, told the Press-Record.

"The heat was intense. The construction was such that it apparently reached a quick flash point," Rutherford added. Fifteen firemen were at the scene for over an hour.

Mrs. Cook and their child were at a doctor's office when the fire occurred.

Cook, standing outside his gutted home watching firemen battle the flames throughout the structure, said sadly, "Everything I own is in there."

He told the Press-Record he was asleep and a friend called him on the telephone. He talked to the friend and then hung up.

"Just as I hung up, there was an explosion in the living room near the television set. I got out as fast as I could. I didn't have a chance to bring anything out with me," Cook said.

A Venice family of seven was made homeless by a fire that started at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday at 1016 Logan St., Venice, apparently because of an overheated heater in the living room.

The fire developed mainly between the roof and the ceiling.

Firemen, working in sub-freezing temperatures, had to chop through the roof to reach the fire.

The house was occupied by (Continued on Page 8)

Mayor Sasyk to be candidate

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk announced Tuesday evening following the Madison City Council meeting that he will seek a third term as mayor.

The mayor said: "As the end of my second term in office approaches, I would like to thank the people of Madison for the continuing support that they have given to me and to all of the city officials of Madison. I am certain that my colleagues would echo my thanks."

"I know that I can speak for all of the officials and workers in the city of Madison when I say that we honestly feel we have honored the commitments we have made to the residents of Madison. As we look back over the past few years we feel very proud of the progress that has been made in our city. Some of the more important programs that we have initiated are:

(1) The blacktopping of all of our city streets, and the beginning of a program to blacktop all of our alleys.

(2) The installation of burglar alarm systems in the businesses, schools, and churches in Madison.

(3) The installation of burglar alarm systems for senior citizens free of charge.

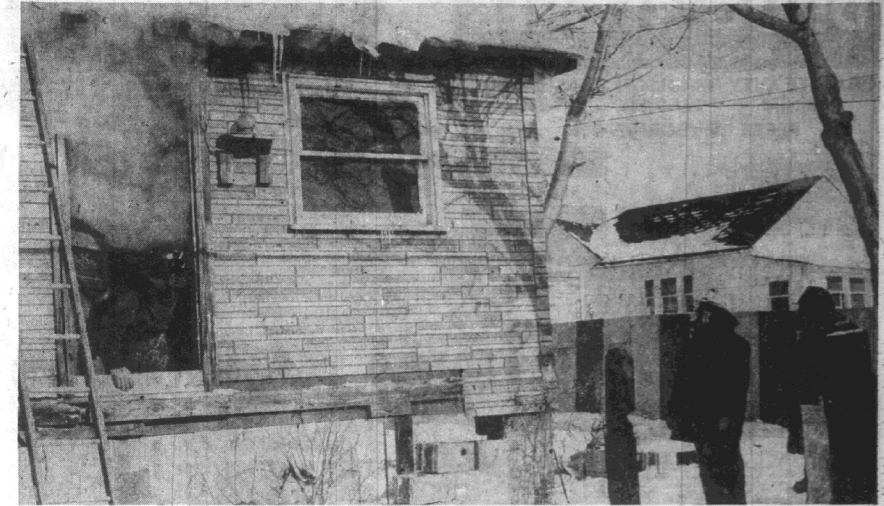

(4) An improved lighting system, including bright lights at all of our city's intersections, so our streets will be safer at night.

"As we look toward the future we anticipate many more improvements in our city. Just (Continued on Page 8)

Cancel seminar

The first in a series of seminars scheduled for presentation in the YMCA tonight has been cancelled due to today's snowstorm. Tonight's program, sponsored by the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council and the Tri-Cities Area United Way, was to feature an address by Ronald Pennell of Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743.

The presentation will be rescheduled to a new date, which will be announced later, it was reported this morning. A previous story concerning the program is on Page 12 of this issue.

CHILLING WORK. In sub-zero weather Venice firemen fight a fire at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday at the residence of Thomas and Orlean Wright, 1016 Logan St., Venice. Fireman Jerry Suggs, left, crawls out of the house, as smoke billows upward, to give a report to Thomas Scatturo, assistant fire chief in white helmet, second from right. Venice Fireman Jerry Cicio is at far right. Damage was estimated at $2,000 to the structure and $1,200 to the contents. The Wright family is staying with friends until new living quarters can be found. (Press-Record Photo)

$2¼ million initial budget

A tentative budget of $2,250,125 for the 1977 year has been posted for public inspection by the Metro-East Sanitary District. The proposed budget, the first prepared by the newly organized sanitary district, is $260,125 less than the 1976 budget of the former East Side Levee and Sanitary District which was replaced in early December by the new Metro-East district.

The Metro-East board of trustees, consisting at present of three members, replaced the former East Side levee board under state legislation abolishing the old district and replacing it with one administered by a five-man board appointed by the County Board chairman of Madison and St. Clair Counties.

The new budget will remain posted for 30 days and is expected to be given final approval in early February, followed by approval of a tax levy for the 1977 fiscal year. The sanitary district's fiscal year is the same as the calendar year.

The new tentative budget projects expenditures of $1,387,500 in the general fund, a cut of $222,100 below last year's East Side levee district budget of $1,609,600 budget for general fund purposes.

General fund expenses are budgeted at $375,000 for administration, $428,000 for project costs, $87,500 for engineering and $497,000 for general maintenance, for the total of $1,387,500.

Special accounts budgeted include $95,000 for municipal retirement, compared to $100,000 last year; $22,500 for auditing, down from $25,000 last year, and $56,000 for liability insurance, up from $50,000 last year.

The new budget sets up bond and interest payments of $697,125 during 1977, down from last year's payment of $733,654.

The new district is running about one month behind in its budget procedure, since the budget period is from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, but Russell Robinson, president of the new district board, said financial problems are not as pressing this year as they have been in the past, and that the district can get by for (Continued on Page 8)

Countywide, 1,394 couples were granted divorces.

Another 461 divorce cases were still pending in the courts as of January, and 44 were dismissed during the past year when those filing for divorce dropped the court action.

More local couples who were married in August ended their marriage than those married in any other month of the year. Those married in the month of May obtained the fewest divorces in 1976.

Two Quad-City area couples obtaining divorces were married for 34 years, and another couple for only one day.

The longest separation before a divorce was obtained totaled 30 years.

Divorces affected couples of all ages. In one case, the husband was 89 years old and the wife 75.

Partly due to the way the Illinois divorce law is written, mental cruelty was the principal charge in divorce suits, totaling 489, followed by 46 for desertion, 13 for mental and physical cruelty, two for physical cruelty and two for felony convictions.

The courts restored former names to 151 Quad-City women.

Of the 532 couples divorced, 221 had no children.

The remaining 311 Quad-City couples divorced in 1976 had a combined total of 489 children listed in the (Continued on Page 8)

Art of parenting is taught

All children can be "gifted" to those parents and teachers who think of children as special gifts. Suzi Nall (Ph.D.), assistant professor of early childhood education at SIUE, believes that like and appreciate children, adults must first understand them.

"We have unrealistic expectations for young children," she said. "We expect them to sit still and not talk, which is totally uncharacteristic for normal children."

She thinks that understanding and a positive attitude toward what children can do — rather than what they cannot do — are important qualities.

Mrs. Nall explains that even two-month-old infants are capable of learning a great deal and can even become bored unless they are presented with different surroundings.

"We have to realize the influence we have over young children," Mrs. Nall said. "They are so impressionable at the early stages. This is when they establish attitudes, emotions and ideas for a lifetime."

For parents who would like to better understand children, there are new classes in "parenting." Mrs. Nall said SIUE will start offering this type of class in the near future.

For SIUE students interested in working with children at the preschool level, there is a degree program leading to a bachelor of science in early childhood education. This program includes special class experiences that involve students observing and working with children.

During a recent class, university students brought homemade toys and books to school. Their relatives or friends "loaned" their preschool children to participate in the experience.

Students interacted with the children and observed their play. They also kept detailed notes on their young guests to see what they could learn about (Continued on Page 24)

Buente dies

Arthur F. Buente, 76, of 2626 State St., a lifelong resident of Granite City, a local businessman and active in community affairs, died at 1:35 p.m. Tuesday at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis.

Mr. Buente and his brother, William F. Buente, owned and operated the Buente's Shoe Store, 194 Delmar Ave., until Nov. 27, 1976, when they retired.

The business, the oldest in Granite City, was opened by their father, A. F. Buente Sr., in January 1897. The store has been at its latest location since August 1915.

Mr. Buente was an elder and member of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, a 53-year member of the (Continued on Page 24)

Crane falls

Officials of Granite City Steel are attempting to determine if a temporary crane can be rigged to resume operations at the blooming mill slab yard building which had to be suspended after a giant overhead crane fell from its ceiling-mounted track at 11 a.m. Tuesday.

The operator of the crane, John Tuoy, walked away from the damaged crane, shaken, but without serious injury. He was excused from the remainder of his shift, company officials said. There were no injuries to others nearby.

The giant overhead crane fell from tracks about 30 feet above the floor, but came to rest on its large tongs and the steel slabs the crane had just picked up, cutting the distance of the fall to about 15 feet, according to company officials.

The crane, however, sustained substantial damage and will have to be dismantled and removed from the building before repairs can be made. It was disclosed.

It is believed a girder in the ceiling of the building broke and gave way, causing the crane and track to fall. The cause of the girder failure had not been (Continued on Page 24)

Consumers learned about ecology; ergonomics next

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
Director
U.S. Office of
Consumer Affairs

Have you ever heard of ergonomics? It's a form of human factor engineering, and it's becoming more and more important in the lives of consumers.

The word "ergonomics" is derived from the Greek words "ergos" for work and "nomos" for natural laws. Ergonomics blends a knowledge of the human body and brain.

The objective of ergonomics is the promotion of efficiency, safety, health and comfort in everyday products and services.

It involves the expertise of doctors, anatomists, physiologists, psychologists, engineers, designers and architects.

While the word "ergonomics" is strange to American ears, its use is widespread in other parts of the world. The concept of ergonomics was born in Sweden, and then (Continued on Page 24)

On and off the record Divorces soar but 44 couples change minds

By KEN THOMPSON
Press-Record Staff Writer

Granite City Attorney Charles H. Jungels is among those expressing the opinion that more couples than ever before are neglecting their marital responsibilities by not honoring commitments made to each other.

He said, "That alone is probably the leading factor in the rising divorce rates in the nation, Madison County and the Quad-Cities."

Jungels added that financial difficulties, alcoholism and use of illegal drugs contribute to the overall problem.

"I don't know what the solution is," said the local attorney, "but it is each man's and woman's responsibility to make the marriage work by finding a solution to their problems, not shirking the responsibilities."

He added, however, that since he began his practice in 1948, "it seems that more and more couples are beginning to realize the divorce courts may not be the solution and they are kissing and making up."

In the year just ended, 532 Quad-City area couples obtained divorce decrees in the Madison County Circuit Court, compared to 473 in 1975.

Eight other local couples obtained annulments in 1976. A total of 1,899 couples filed for divorce throughout Madison County, one less than in the year 1975.

Weather outlook for this region

Heavy snow warning through today. Snow possibly changing to freezing rain or sleet this afternoon. Two to four inches accumulation generally; possibly more locally. High today about 30. Occasional rain.

Meyers, who authorities allege also uses the name "Wierzer" and was arrested at 10:35 a.m. Wednesday at his home on a warrant from the Madison County Sheriff's Department and taken before Circuit Judge William Beatty who set bond at $25,000.

The document alleges that Meyers was in possession of 8½ pounds of Type C4 military plastic explosives on Dec. 31, 1975, without a license from the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals, and that he sold the explosives without a license.

The arrest resulted from an investigation by Granite City police and undercover agents of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division, U.S. Treasury Department.

On Monday at 5 p.m., firemen were called to the home of Mildred VanVleet, 1232 Edwards Road, when insulation inside a wall caught fire and caused $50 damage.

At 8 a.m. Tuesday, firemen went to the Jennings-Wright Corp., 22nd Street and Railroad Tracks, to extinguish burning oil and a utility shed and were there 15 minutes. No estimate of damage was made.

An exterior wall at the home of Lawrence Dalton, 2831 Edwards St., burned and had to be extinguished by firemen at 7:05 p.m. Tuesday after the blaze caused $100 damage to the building. They were there 30 minutes.

News notes

Unemployment declined nationally in December from 8.1 to 7.9 per cent. In Illinois, the figure dropped from 7.4 to 7.1 per cent.

In the Madison-St. Clair Counties area jobless decreased from 7.9 to 7.8 per cent.

Illinois House Speaker William Redmond, Bensenville, retained that office with the support of 94 Democrats yesterday, his first ballot win contrasting with his 1975 victory, which required 93 ballots and 13 days.

Senate Republicans chose David C. Shapiro of Amboy as their minority leader. Mrs. Celeste Stiehl, Belleville, was reappointed as House assistant minority leader by Rep. George H. Ryan, Kankakee, the GOP leader.

The Belleville Area College faculty yesterday ratified 77-16 a one-year agreement that includes a 5½ per cent salary increase.

The BAC board still has not recognized Teachers Local 525 as faculty bargaining agents.

The United Steelworkers yesterday lost a U.S. Supreme Court bid to preserve a strict meeting-attendance rules for candidates for local union office. The court said 6-3 that it is unreasonable to say that candidates must have attended at least half of a local's regular meeting for the three years prior to an election.

Attorney General-designate Griffin Bell said Wednesday Clarence Kelley will be replaced as Federal Bureau of Investigation director.

The Madison County Planning Commission on Tuesday heard a proposed draft of the industrial section of a future county land use plan. It includes 800 acres in areas separate from residential section.

Legislation introduced Tuesday in the Illinois House would provide a "lifeline" quantity of gas and electricity at an adjusted lower rate for senior citizens and the poor.

Chouteau highway dept. to sell tax warrants

The Chouteau Town Board of Auditors was informed during the board's regular meeting Monday night that the township's highway commissioner, James Estes, is having the necessary papers prepared to sell two anticipation warrants of $20,000 each to help pay some of the highway department's bills.

Estes asked the board how much tax money he has yet to receive from 1976 collections, and was told most of the taxes already have been received.

It was noted about $52,000 to $55,000 in bills for the highway department are outstanding. The auditors also noted many items in the road and bridge and special hard road funds have been nearly expended and a budget revision will be necessary before many bills can be paid, even if the anticipation warrants are sold.

Township Supervisor Walter "Dick" Sparks told Estes he will have to contact the highway department's attorney to have the necessary papers prepared for amending the budgets and for selling the anticipation warrants.

The board approved the highway department's regular payroll.

In other business, the board approved expenses for Town Clerk Patricia Polley to attend an election school, sponsored by the state Board of Elections, to be held Jan. 25 in Carlinville, Ill.

Tickets and further information concerning the ball may be obtained by contacting the society's office at 528 Henry Street, Alton, Ill. 62002, or by calling 1-465-7821.

South wins in district volleyball

Top-seeded GCHS South defeated Alton 20-4 and 20-13 Tuesday night at Stanton to advance into semifinal competition of the girls' volleyball district tournament.

Coach Wilma Schulze's team will play the host school at seven o'clock tonight, with the winner advancing into the championship contest at 7:30 p.m. Saturday against either Wood River or Edwardsville. Stanton beat Bethalto on Tuesday to advance. Wood River defeated Roxana last night, and Coach Sharon Bloodworth's GCHS North girls lost last night to Edwardsville 20-14 and 20-8.

Unbeaten Braves batter Bethalto

Coach Larry Carl's Coolidge Braves remain undefeated in 19 consecutive dual meets, a record which started during the 1975-76 season. The Braves beat visiting Bethalto 54-18 Tuesday afternoon.

Coolidge has eight wins against no losses thus far in 1977 competition. Coolidge victors were Chris Cottrell (75 pounds) on a forfeit, Greg Davis (98) a pin in 48 seconds, Mike Niebur (105) 1:20, Randy Lupardus (112) forfeit, Jeff Cotter (126) 3:54, Kevin Knowland (144) 5:59, Mike Matcchett (155) 3:04, Chuck Will (170) 23 seconds and heavyweight Tim Wyrostek on a forfeit.

Knowland, Will and Wyrostek are unbeaten thus far this season.

Bruins hope to move up

Coach-Player Gary Mainer's Bruins will meet Coolidge tomorrow in a 10:30 p.m. Madison-St. Clair Counties Junior Ice Hockey contest at the Wilson Park ice rink, with hopes of moving into the first place in the standing with O'Fallon. Granite City's Bruins, with a 7-2 record, will need help from Coach Tom Thompson's Alton Redbirds, however. Alton plays O'Fallon here at 10 p.m. Saturday. Wins by the Bruins and by Alton would create a tie in the standings.

A contest Saturday at 11:30 p.m. pits Metro against Wood River.

O'Fallon has an 8-1 mark, Granite City 7-2, Wood River 5-3-1, Alton 4-1, Metro 2-7 and Collinsville 0-9.

South comeback succeeds 64-60

A field goal and two charity tosses proved decisive here Tuesday night for Coach Don Deterding's Warrior cagers as GCHS South regained the lead with 21 seconds to play and sent on to defeat Bethalto 64-60. South now has an 8-7 record.

Following a 14-14 opening quarter deadlock, South trailed the visitors 32-28 at Halftime and held a narrow 43-42 lead before outscoring Bethalto 21-18 in the final period.

The Warriors shot 45 per cent from the floor, making 23 field goals in 51 attempts, and Bethalto hit a sizzling 61 per cent, 22 of 36.

South edged the enemy at the free throw line, 18-16, although the Warriors committed the most fouls, 24-15.

Bethalto yielded possession of the ball the most times on turnovers, 28-18, and each team retrieved 23 rebounds.

South trailed 38-37 with 2:25 left in the third quarter until baskets by John Slay and Dave Rhodes helped put the Warriors ahead by four points.

Following a field goal by Bethalto's Mark Dooley, Slay hit from the field again before Dooley pulled his team within one point with a basket with 45 seconds left in the third period.

South continued to lead through most of the final quarter until Dooley, who scored eight of his total of 22 points in that period, tied the contest at 64-64 on two free throws with 2:01 to play.

Warrior Greg Feigl hit a field goal but Bethalto came back with a goal to again tie it with 1:36 to go.

Feigl regained the lead for

TERRY JONES

South with a basket and Tim Anderson put South farther ahead, 61-58, with a charity loss following the first of two technical fouls called against the Bethalto coach.

Coach Deterding's cagers went into a stall with 1:18 to play and a second technical foul call against the opposing coach again sent Anderson to the foul line. He sank another toss for a 62-58 South lead.

Terry Jones put two more points on the scoreboard with 10 seconds remaining, and Bethalto's Steve Carey hit two charity tosses with three seconds left.

Slay led South's successful effort with 20 points. Tom Hennrich and Feigl each followed 10, Rhodes nine, Jeff Parker seven, Anderson six and Jones two.

Shells shock GC North five 57-51

Senior Jerry Barnett scored 18 points in the second half of play and pulled down 11 rebounds but his efforts failed to overcome foul trouble experienced by GCHS North. The Roxana Shells sank 21 free throws in 35 attempts and won 57-51 Tuesday night at Roxana.

The Shells led 10-8, 25-13 and 35-32 at the quarters. They garnered 18 field goals in 40 tries, while North made 20 of 64 basket attempts and hit on 11 of 20 charity tosses to Roxana's 21 free throws.

North committed the most fouls, 27-19, and Roxana the most turnovers, 20-14. The two teams were even at the backboards, each with 36 recoveries.

Barnett and teammate Rodney Wortham, a 6-4 senior, were held scoreless through the first half by the Shells, who double-teamed Barnett and closely guarded Wortham.

North's Steelers kept the score close early in the final period, and once led 42-40 on back-to-back baskets by Barnett before Roxana connected with five straight free throws to regain the lead.

The Shells sank 10 free throws in the fourth period enroute to outscoring North 22-19.

JERRY BARNETT

Adding to Barnett's 18 points and Wortham's 12 were Rick Willard with six, Brad Gauen five, Bob Batey four, Alan Warfield and Chris Page two each and Bob Schmucke and Gary Paul, one each.

Rebounds spark Venice rebound

The Venice High School Red Devil cagers, paced in scoring and rebounding by Junior Frank Pace, posted their third win of the season Tuesday night with a 69-64 decision over Marquette of Alton in the Venice gymnasium.

Coach Richard Essington's Red Devils led 22-18, 29-37 and 54-49 at the quarters on the strength of 24 rebound recoveries, 16 of them by Pace, a 6-2 forward.

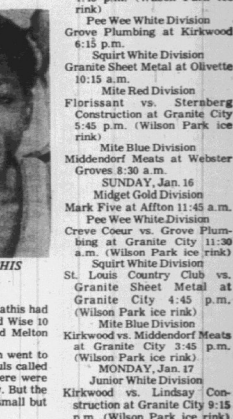

Venice outshot the visitors from the floor, 29-23, and trailed at the free throw line, 11-11. The most fouls were committed by the home team, 23-18.

Pace helped provide the fuel for the win-hungry Venice squad with first-quarter heroics.

Pace turned nine rebounds into eight points in the initial period and on defense blocked nine Marquette shots from reaching the net.

Assisting on the boards were Anthony Wise with 12 recoveries, Don Gardner 11, Ed Fleig eight, Rick Jones and Reggie Mathis three each and Larry Melton, one.

Venice scoring was led by

REGGIE MATHIS

Pace with 16 points. Mathis had 12, Jones 11, Fleig and Wise 10 each, Gardner six and Melton four.

Jones and Wise both went to the bench with five fouls called against them when there were six minutes left to play. But the Devils retained their small but consistent lead.

New scoreboard in Venice gymnasium

A brilliant red basketball scoreboard, 10-feet by 17-feet, was donated to the Venice Public School during the weekend by the Venice Adult Booster Club and the First National Bank in Madison.

The presentation ceremonies took place between games against Altamont. The master-of-ceremonies, Mayor William M. Eberhardt, thanked John Belleco, representing the Madison bank, and Mrs. Patricia McCoskey, Tom Voegelie and Joe "Willie" Roberts, officers of the club.

Belleco presented the scoreboard to Jack Tolliver, president of the Venice School Board and his acceptance followed.

The Altamont team, coaches and coaches were hosted by the Adult Booster Club, with sandwiches and soda served after the game because of the distance traveled.

"Everyone will get a lot of use from this fine gift and it will always be remembered," Roberts, club president, said, praising the bank and the hard work contributed by members of our club."

Thomas and Orlean Wright and five children who escaped from the home without injury. Assistant Fire Chief Thomas Scaturro estimated damage to the building at $2,000 and to the contents at $1,200.

"Mr. and Mrs. Wright and the children are staying with friends until they can find another home and furnishings. Ten Venice firemen were at the scene for more than two hours.

The Venice fire department received three telephone calls from neighbors about the fire. One of the children ran to the fire station to report it, and firemen already were enroute when she reached the station.

Under a special Tri-Cities Area United Way program for disaster help to groups of one to four families (the national Red Cross becomes involved in disasters affecting five or more families), the local Red Cross chapter is extending assistance to the Wright family.

Also being aided are Mr. and Mrs. Corbet Wallace and family, 2315 Harding Blvd., whose home suffered $20,500 damage Saturday night.

Through the special United Way fund, "we are assisting both families," Mrs. Mildred Meehan, Red Cross executive secretary, said.

"Due to closing of the Church Women's nearly-new clothing program, we are experiencing difficulty in obtaining clothing," Mrs. Meehan said. "Both families could use additional used clothing and furniture."

"Citizens may drop off clothing at the Red Cross office, 2021 Edison Ave., or call 452-7184 for furniture pickup. Or they can contact the Wright family at 538 Mercedia St., 876-4587, or the Wallace family at 2215 Lincoln Ave., 877-3557."

"In the Wright family, there are a daughter, 17, a son, 12, a daughter, 10, another daughter, eight, and a grandson, eight. The Wallaces have a son, 16, another son, six years old, and a daughter, 19 months old."

The new snowstorm moved into the Quad-Cities about 4 a.m. today with the National Weather Service, predicting a new accumulation of two to four inches, with later accumulation of perhaps four or five inches and freezing rain.

As snow continued to fall throughout the morning, it created a repitition of weather problems encountered earlier in the week when six inches of snow had blanketed the area and slowed traffic to a standstill.

Today's storm hit in time to cover highways and streets with a new blanket of snow for the morning rush hours. Driving was hazardous everywhere. Motorists had difficulty seeing traffic lanes on highways and many minor accidents were reported to state and local police units.

Some relief from bitter cold temperatures of the past week was promised by the weather service, which predicted a high of perhaps 30 today and a low of about 20 tonight. It was 21 in the late morning hours today.

The snow may change to freezing rain and sleet by late this afternoon, the forecast said, with more snow due overnight, ending Friday. Temperatures are due to drop over the weekend to lows ranging from zero to 5 above. More snow is possible next Monday.

"Due to major accumulation of ice in the lock chambers at Locks and Dam No. 26, Allen, and Locks No. 27, Granite City, the width of vessels using those facilities is restricted, effective immediately, to a 70-foot width."

The Army Engineers' St. Louis District said this week. "Major accumulations of ice have formed on the lock walls and meter gates as a result of recent extreme low temperatures."

"The ice accumulations have made it increasingly difficult to totally recess the locks' meter gates."

"In order to prevent damage to the gates, vessels are restricted to a 70-foot width, and are instructed to enter and depart the lock chambers at a low speed while exercising extreme caution," a spokesman said.

"Full cooperation and adherence to the lockmasters' direction is requested during this period in order to minimize ice-related lockage problems. This restriction will remain in effect for the duration of the current severe icing condition."

Operations at the Tri-Cities Regional Port may come to a standstill within a few days because of icing and low water conditions on the Mississippi River which have caused a halt of river traffic south from St. Louis and north from Cairo.

Carl Ranft, general manager-secretary of the Port District, said today that loading operations at the port will be able to continue for the next few days because of the availability of 12 empty barges.

He said seven barges are immediately available in the port fleet here, and that five empty barges in the St. Louis fleet will be able to reach the port for loading.

But once these are loaded, he said, "we will have to wait until conditions improve."

A decision that barge traffic between St. Louis and Cairo should come to a standstill was reached yesterday by a special committee made up of the Army Corps of Engineers, the Coast Guard and the towing industry.

"No towboats should depart south from St. Louis or north from Cairo until ice and low-water conditions improve, and any towboats in that area should proceed to a safe mooring due to ice gorging and heavy ice flows," the committee recommended.

The action is not mandatory, but a spokesman for the towing industry remarked that "anyone would be crazy to operate in that stretch until conditions improve."

Ranft said that as soon as the 12 available barges are loaded, they will be moored in a fleet and will be unable to move until improved river conditions permit.

He added that Bulk Service, Inc., is the most seriously affected. "Bulk Service is working about 30 men around the clock on loading operations," Ranft noted.

He said a work force of 100 men is working in the port facility overall.

"Once we are forced to discontinue operations," Ranft added, "we expect to also face the problem of rail cars backing up. Those trains now enroute to

State Loan elects Adams

Donald G. Adams was named vice-president of State Loan and Savings Assn. during the annual reorganization meeting of the association's board of directors Tuesday night.

Adams replaces Carl Ranft who formerly held that position. Adams was the only new officer of the association. Two new directors, elected during the annual meeting Friday, Jan. 7, were on the board during the selection of the officers. They were Frank R. Rea and Richard H. Ervey. They replace Ranft and Dr. George T. Wilkins Jr. on the board.

Officers of the association who were re-elected were: J. Clifford Byers, chairman of the board; Robert E. Backs, president; James R. Seiz, secretary-treasurer; and Dolores M. Jaros, assistant secretary.

Officers re-elected were Adams, Backs, Clifton E. Blankenship, Byers and Maurice Dalley. During the annual meeting, Backs reported assets of $19,232,724 as of Nov. 30, the close of the fiscal year.

He noted new home construction increased during 1976 over previous years and further increases are anticipated during 1977.

He also said the money supply and new savings during 1977 is expected to exceed the loan demand during the year with the results that 1977 should be a good year for the money supply.

The Chouteau Township officials said this week that they do not expect any organized move to draft a Democratic slate of candidates for township offices at the Feb. 1 township caucus.

Four years ago, the caucus did select a Democratic slate which ran against the independent slates which already had filed petitions of candidacy. The Democrats were unsuccessful, however, in the April 1973 township election.

All Quad-City area townships, including Chouteau Township, will hold Republican and Democratic caucuses Tuesday, Feb. 1, a date prescribed by law.

The caucuses will give all registered voters in the township an opportunity to select Democratic and Republican slates, if they choose.

One independent slate already has filed in Chouteau Township and a spokesman for that slate said the candidates would prefer to remain independent, rather than being

County clerk to have tax forms

State income tax forms will be available in the office of Madison County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles during the income tax filing period in 1977, according to an announcement by State Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin.

Miss Bowles is making the forms available as part of her office's public service programs to Madison County residents.

Alphin said that more than 4.5 million Illinoisans will file state income tax returns in 1977. Tax forms are being mailed now to persons throughout the state for use during the filing period, Jan. 1 to midnight April 15.

Alphin reminded taxpayers that refunds could be expected sooner for returns filed early.

Chouteau, Venice township caucuses scheduled Feb. 1

The Chouteau Township Caucus will be held at the township office, 825 Thorngate Drive, Mitchell, Registered Republicans are to caucus at 6 p.m. and registered Democrats are to meet at 7 p.m.

Venue Township will hold its caucuses at 2 p.m. Feb. 1 at the Madison Recreation Center.

Granite City Township is not required to hold a caucus, since only a supervisor and assessor are elected in township balloting. Different laws apply to Granite City Township because its boundaries and those of the city are co-extensive, according to City Clerk Robert Stevens who also is town clerk.

For the Illinois Municipal Retirement fund, the budget projects total available funds of $105,870, including a $10,500 balance at the beginning of the year. Budgeted expenditures of $95,370 should leave a balance of $10,500 in that account at the end of the year, budget figures show.

Available funds in the auditing account are projected at $40,350, with budgeted expenses of $22,500 leaving an estimated year-end surplus of $17,850. The liability insurance account is expected to have total available funds of $47,010. Since expenses are budgeted at $56,000, a deficit of $8,990 is expected in that account.

The bond and interest sinking fund had a cash balance of $743,900 at the beginning of the year, the budget projections show, with an additional $658,430 in tax revenue anticipated during the year. This will provide total available funds of $1,402,330.

Bond and interest payments totaling $697,125 will leave a year-end balance of $705,205 in the reserve fund, the budget document shows. The projected deficit of $18,110 in this year's general fund account is $273,583 less than the anticipated deficit of $462,693 listed in the 1975 budget when it was prepared a year ago.

Anticipated income of $1,199,690 is projected during the year in the general fund budget, including an estimated 90 per cent tax collection of $696,750 this summer, $54,940 in 1975 taxes still due and $175,000 in federal disaster funds. The general fund began the year with a $1,500 deficit, which leaves an anticipated $1,198,190 in available funds for the year.

Since expenditures are estimated at $1,397,500 in the general fund, the budget projects a $189,310 deficit at the end of the year.

Divorces

"I would say that the total number of children affected by divorces is not fully accounted for and probably is double that number," Jungels said.

He said the 498 children cited are the actual number on which the courts granted custody to one or both of the parties involved.

"There were many children on whom granting of custody was not necessary because they were from a previous marriage of either the man or the woman," he added.

VIOLATION CHARGED David M. Thebeau, 33, operator of Ralph and Charley's Steak House, 1431 Fourth St., Madison, was charged at 2:07 a.m. Wednesday with violation of the city tavern closing hours. Thebeau was released on $100 cash bond. Police allegedly saw five to six customers drinking at the time of the arrest. Under a new ordinance only the owner and employees may be inside a tavern after 2 a.m. weekdays and must stop selling drinks at 1:45 a.m.

Four charged with felonies

Four persons arrested after an undercover operation by the Illinois Bureau of Investigation (IBI) and the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois (MEG), have been named in informational documents from the Madison County state's attorney's office alleging felonies.

An IBI spokesman said the charges resulted from two alleged purchases of cocaine by undercover agents and an incident in which agents keeping surveillance over the purchases had a gun fired at or near their auto.

The first informational document alleges unlawful delivery of a controlled substance to undercover agents by Gerald and Rita Heinemeier, 30, and Charles Schneider, 24, Edwardsville, in early December when two ounces of cocaine allegedly were purchased.

Another document alleges Rita Heinemeier 26, and Frederick Crook, 29, Glen Carbon, were involved in the sale of six ounces of cocaine to agents at a sale price of $11,100 a few days later.

The third document alleges that Gerald Heinemeier, 30, and Charles Schneider, 24, Edwardsville, committed aggravated assault and armed violence against undercover agents during their investigation.

Agents allege the two men were in an auto from which a shot was fired at or near the auto of the undercover agents. They were not injured.

It is alleged $10,400 was recovered by agents when Crook was arrested a short time after the second cocaine purchase. About 30 pounds of marijuana and about $50,000 worth of cocaine were confiscated during the investigation.

On the first drug delivery charge, bonds for Gerald and Rita Heinemeier were set at $50,000 each. On the second delivery charge, the bond for Rita Heinemeier was set at $50,000 and Crook was released after posting $5,000 cash bail.

On the other charge, Gerald Heinemeier had his bond set at $50,000 and Schneider was released after posting $100 cash bail on a $50,000 bond.

Melanie Asadorian competes for state honors this week

For the first time in the 18-year history of the Miss Illinois County Fair Pageant, this year a contestant will represent Madison County.

Melanie Rose Asadorian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Asadorian, 2117 Grand Ave., the first and current holder of the Miss Madison County Fair Queen title, will leave for Springfield tomorrow to vie for the coveted crown.

Fifty-three young women, between the ages of 16 and 22 years, will compete in the pageant, to be staged at the state capital's Forum 30 complex.

Winner of the Miss Illinois County Fair Queen title will receive a $1,000 scholarship from Prairie Farms Dairy, an $800 diamond ring, luggage set, cash awards, and many other gifts. She will reign over the 1977 Illinois Fair in Springfield next August and at all county fairs within the state.

The new title-holder will be crowned by Illinois Governor James R. Thompson and Miss Elaine Grossman of Ohio, Ill., the 1976 Miss Illinois County Fair Queen, at a banquet and pageant finals, starting at 6 p.m. Monday in the Grand Ballroom at Forum 30.

Candidates will be divided into two groups for semi-final contests, to be staged from 1 to 10 p.m. Sunday and from 7 to 10 p.m. the same day.

Miss Asadorian has been assigned to the evening segment.

Viola Suits, pageant director since 1959 and Miss Illinois of 1948, said a specific number of girls is not chosen from among those appearing in the afternoon sequence and those assigned to the evening semi-final show.

"Conceptually, all 10 finalists could be selected from one group, or may be five from the afternoon and five from the evening assignees," she said.

The new Miss Illinois County Fair Queen will be selected on the basis of poise, personality and appearance of figure, face and in swimsuit and evening gown segments.

All candidates will meet formally with members of the judging panel and attend an informal luncheon with the judges at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Other activities Saturday will include the official roll call of contestants, who represent Illinois counties as far south as Union, not far from the Kentucky-Missouri border, and Winnebago, near the Wisconsin line.

The state winner receives a $1,000 scholarship, plus many other gifts, and reigns over the Illinois State Fair and all county fairs this year. Governor James R. Thompson and Miss Grossman will crown the new state queen in the Forum 30 ballroom Monday evening.

winner came from Macoupin County. Subsequent winners have represented Macon, Massac, Effingham, Greene, Pike and Shelby, all in South-Central Illinois.

Rehearsal sessions also are planned Saturday and Sunday morning for all candidates. At a brunch on Monday, the retiring queen, Elaine Grossman, will be hostess and this year's candidates will be presented individual gifts.

The evening's festivities will open with a grand march of contestants into the Forum 30 ballroom and announcement of the 10 finalists by Bill Miller, master-of-ceremonies and a professor at Sangamon University, Springfield.

Miss Asadorian, 20, won the Miss Madison County Fair Queen title July 15 at Highland, competing against 18 other girls.

She is a junior at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in the field of music education, and a 1974 graduate of Granite City High School South.

The local young woman is a talented vocalist and has appeared at many functions in the bi-state metropolitan area and elsewhere throughout Illinois and Missouri.

Miss Asadorian was chosen Miss Granite City in 1975 and represented the community in the Miss Illinois Pageant that year.

Off-Campus Council seats officers, hears students

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
Robert Jones, owner-operator of Baskin-Robbins 31 Ice Cream store, conducted his first meeting as chairman of the Granite City School District's Career (Off-Campus) Advisory Council at a quarterly dinner Tuesday evening at Charlie's Restaurant.

The 187 officers seated with Jones were:

Mrs. Lillian Douglas, Coordinated Youth Services, vice-chairman; Don Shaffner, Granite City School District 9 Off-Campus Education coordinator; secretary, and Valerie Eveneden of the Press-Record, public relations coordinator.

Richard Ervay, owner of Ervay's Restaurant, is the retiring council president.

The group tentatively set

Tuesday, May 10, for the third annual Off-Campus Education banquet honoring employers and students involved in the program.

The banquet will take place in North High School cafeteria, if the facility is available, the council agreed.

Most of the meeting was devoted to reviewing Coordinated Youth Services (CYS) role in the Occupation Education, Cooperative Education - Extended Classroom program of the Granite City School District.

Mrs. Douglas, representing the Tri-Cities Area United Way agency, said the CYS was founded in World War II when frequently one parent was in the military service and the other in defense plant work, leaving young people "on the streets."

The agency developed from mostly a recreational and "baby-sitting" project to counseling services for young people with problems.

In recent years, under the guidance of C. A. "Bud" MacMillan, CYS director, its programs have broadened into many new areas involving youth in the community, Mrs. Douglas said.

The agency is contracted to handle school attendance services in the Granite City School District, offers an alternative education curriculum and finds part-time employment for youths, among many other specialized programs.

Noting the CYS budget allocated initially from the United Way was $18,000, Mrs. Douglas said the agency now administers the Special Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, with a 10-month budget of $167,000.

The WIC program, which enables the low income pregnant women and small child to be nutritiously fed, has been described as the most imaginative and "cost effective" of today's feeding programs, including school lunch and summer child feeding programs or food stamps.

CYS still focuses its primary concentration, however, on aiding young people of school age with various problems.

The alternative school program, administered through Special Education Region I, covering Madison, Venice and Granite City, affords students who are unable or unwilling to cope with stringent school attendance rules and curriculum requirements a chance to succeed through "another means of education," it was explained.

After participating in the alternative school program and working simultaneously, many students regain motivation and resume their education in the more formal setting of a public high school, it was learned.

One young woman at Tuesday night's meeting told the council she would resume full-time studies at a local high school next semester after spending the past two years in alternative school and working through the Cooperative Education program in the CYS office.

Because of her job at CYS, the student discovered she had little interest in routine office work and wants to attend college after high school graduation to become a social worker, she explained.

Although initially helped by CYS staff member, Frank Signaio, to find employment, another student attending alternative school recently acquired a job on his own and now is learning to refinish furniture, upholster and work with woods.

He commented to the council members - "I really like the job. It's the kind of job you have to like when you are working with wood." He praised his employer for affording him the chance to work at something I really enjoy."

Due to past problems, he probably would have dropped out of school, the youth said. "At alternative school, I felt they looked at you as a person an individual, not just a thing... on a one-to-one basis. This gave me self confidence and a chance to learn something." He will graduate from high school in 1978, it was learned.

Students involved in the alternative school program are now eligible to take part in the Cooperative Education - Off-Campus work program, Shaffner said.

In addition to those named previously, members of the Career (Off-Campus) Advisory Council include:

Don Wolf, Marilyn Whitworth, Shirley Wendel, Gail Veizer, John Sveria, Grover Myers, Walter C. Milton, C. A. MacMillan, Dr. Overt Lay, Mrs. Shirley Brown, Mrs. Geoffrey Abing and Mrs. Robert Jones. Released on recognizance

Tommy Hughes, 19, of 2717 Roosevelt Ave., pleaded innocent in court in Granite City Monday to a charge of aggravated battery and was released by Associate Judge Merlin Hiscott on a $10,000 recognizance bond.

Hughes was arrested at 6:40 p.m. Jan. 8 at Craycraft's Tavern, 1034 W. 20th St., after allegedly striking Loren S. Wilhelmy, 2104 Cleveland Blvd., several times on the head and face with a beer mug.

When police arrived, Hughes had locked himself in a restroom and Wilhelmy had obtained a crowbar from his car to defend himself, officers alleged.

Hughes came out moments later and was arrested. Wilhelmy was treated for facial injuries.

Hughes already was free on another $10,000 recognizance bond after being named in an informational document from the Madison County state's attorney's office charging burglary.

More curbs, drainage proposed for township

A proposal for approving a new budget early in the upcoming fiscal year and suggestions for 11 projects to be included in the budget were among the recommendations made by Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell to the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors Monday night.

Whitsell noted the township's fiscal year begins March 1 each year, but a new budget normally is not approved until sometime in June.

He noted the township is in better financial condition than any other governmental entity in the area, if considered on a per capita basis, and credited "management and investment of idle funds for interest and to the close attention given to the availability of state and federal funds."

Whitsell estimated income in the upcoming fiscal year at $706,343, including all grants. He suggested the finance committee consider budgeting funds to aid eleven problems still existing in the township, including upgrading roads, new health and drainage programs, and cooperation with the village of Ponton Beach which is paying road taxes and receiving very little benefit.

The programs which should be considered for funding in the new budget, according to Whitsell, include additional fire hydrants to reduce fire insurance rates, a permanent hauled road program including concrete curbs and gutters, increased use of Manpower grant employees for trash pickups, and tree limb removals, and drainage proposals for the Wilshire, Parkview Estates, State Park Place, Elm Slough and Dorey Slough areas.

Also, new mosquito abatement equipment, new rabies control equipment, a tornado warning system for Arlington Heights, cooperation with Madison to attract industry and proper access roads to the Stephen Maestas Industrial Park, and street lights at dangerous intersections.

'Rally for life' Jan. 22

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Woody Lynn and Mrs. Alice Cruise. Roll call was answered with each member quoting a verse with the word "love" in the context.

A "rally for life" has been scheduled by the Pro-Life Funding Committee at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 22, at the Roxana, located off Route 111 in Roxana. Signs will be posted indicating the turnout for the rally.

Mrs. Jean Garton, a national pro-life speaker from New Jersey, is to be the principal speaker. A graduate of Ursinus College and a three-year student at Concordia Seminary, in Springfield, Ill., she has been a Christian day school teacher of the blind and a Braille transcriber. She has published articles in Advance, Interaction, Lutheran Witness, LWML Quarterly and The Cross.

SCOUT PAPER DRIVE

Boy Scouts of Troop 13, sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Elizabeth Church, are asking area residents to bring scrap paper to Schuck's parking lot at Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center on Friday evening, Jan. 21. A truck will be parked there, and again between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 22. Persons wishing paper picked up may phone 977-6617 or 931-4249.

REINHARDT - Realtor Sells - BETTER LIVING!

In 1974, Mrs. Garton was named chairman of the Task Force on Women, a pro-life organization for Protestant women. She was appointed by the New Jersey State Senate to serve on a committee to investigate abortion clinics. She also was appointed to serve on a juvenile conference committee in the New Jersey court system to hear cases of minors.

In February 1974, Mrs. Garton testified in favor of passing a human life amendment before the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments. She gave similar testimony before the U.S. House of Representatives Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights in March 1976.

Dorothy Ducey, president of St. Louis Birthright, also will speak at the rally. Her presentation will be concerned with the purpose and goals of Birthright.

WELCOMING STATE OFFICER. Illinois Amvets Commander Leonard Kukowski of Chicago, center, is welcomed to Madison Amvets Post 204 by Post Commander William Diak, left, and Vasil C. Communication is topic of first United Way seminar

The Tri-City Trades and Labor Council Community Services Committee, in cooperation with the Tri-City Area United Way, will sponsor a series of five one-night seminars of general interest to the public.

The first of the series will be at 7 p.m. today at the YMCA. Guest speaker will be Ron Pennell, member of Granite City Federation of Teachers Local 743, and Department head of speech and theater at Granite City High School South. The topic tonight will be "Five Levels of Inter-Personal Communications."

The second seminar will be conducted by Coordinated Youth Services, a United Way Agency. A professional team of counselors will discuss drug and alcohol abuse. This seminar is scheduled for Feb. 10 at the YMCA from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Group reservations may be made by calling the Community Services office at 877-6780.

The third seminar of the series will be co-sponsored by the Area Council Parent-Teacher Association on March 16.

Topic for the seminar will be "Where Do I Go?" This presentation will be given by city, state and federal agencies and a group of interested citizens.

This seminar is based on a simulated assault and the chain reaction of events that follow.

This program will bring to light how the community is prepared to help, the safeguards that are taken day and night to make the Quad-Cities a better place to live, and how community involvement can strengthen the bonds between youths and authorities in making tomorrow safer for future adults.

The fourth seminar will be conducted in early May. The speaker will be Eugene Verdu of Belleville Area College. Topic will be, "What Will You Do When It is Time to Retire?" This seminar will be a two-hour introduction to an eight week course being planned for the fall of 1977, in cooperation with Belleville Area College.

All members of the community who are 45 years of age or older, and those who have already taken that step into retirement are being invited. "We never stop building bridges for tomorrow, for when we stop planning, there will be no bridges," is among the lessons.

The fifth and final seminar will be conducted in September. A presentation is being prepared by Keith V. Rohrs, executive director of the Tri-Cities United Way, and by 15 United Way Agencies, on how community services and character building programs play an important role in the planning, growth, recreation, health and welfare of the Quad-City area.

"The United Way exists because of the one word, 'United'—a community joined together with one mutual interest—to meet the needs of each other, and to become involved in the growth that must continue, if we are to remain in the society we are part of," Larry Miller, Community Services Coordinator for the United Way, explained.

Each seminar will be announced in the Press-Record during the month each is scheduled. "This series of five seminars has been chosen carefully to reach each member of the Quad-City area. Interested organizations desiring to attend

Amvet state officers visit

Area Amvets and Auxiliary members were honored during the weekend with a visit by Len Kukowski, Illinois Amvets commander, and Lee Smale, president of the State Amvets Auxiliary. Both are from the Chicago area.

Mrs. Smale was a special guest at the quarterly meeting of the Illinois Amvets Auxiliary Division 5, held this week at Madison Amvets Post 204, located at 1242 Iowa St., Madison.

At a simultaneous business session, Kukowski addressed Amvets from Division 5 posts, urging their cooperation in seeking new members and renewing contacts with past members.

Commander William Diak of Madison Post 204 welcomed the guests and noted the inclement weather had prohibited the expected attendance of many Amvets from Division 5 posts in Southern Illinois. About 50 were present.

Diak announced that Post 204 has endorsed Henry Lopez of the Madison post as candidate for the position of Illinois Amvets service director in Springfield.

Other guests introduced were Wally Hogan of Post 34, Chicago; Bill Smale, past commander of Federal Post, Chicago; Adam Petras of Granite City Post 51, commander of District 25; Commander Leo Clements of Post 51; and Robert Reed and Ray Grant, both of Pekin Amvets.

The auxiliary meeting was conducted by Mrs. Glenda Brockman, Division 5 president and a member of Post 51

Auxiliary.

Service programs throughout the area, sponsored during the holiday season, were reviewed. Results showed many veterans and their families were assisted by the benefit projects, it was noted.

Mrs. Smale spoke to the gathering, stressing the importance of selecting dedicated persons "truly interested in furthering the growth of the auxiliary" to positions of leadership at the state, divisional and local levels.

Audrey Bennett of Springfield, Illinois Amvets Auxiliary senior vice-president, also was a guest. She discussed membership recruitment and suggested former members be encouraged to become active again.

Mrs. Betty Anderson and members of Madison Post 204 Social Club were guests at the meeting.

A buffet luncheon was served, arranged by Mrs. Judy Diak. Gifts were awarded in the social hour to Melba Jones, Herbie Darwin, Trudy McGowan and Mrs. Anderson.

Mrs. Brockman announced the next Division 5 meeting will take place in May at Harrisburg Post 244.

On the evening preceding the Division 5 meetings, Mrs. Smale and Kukowski were honored guests at a dinner party in the home of Mrs. Brockman.

Other guests were Bill Smale, Wally Hogan and Mrs. Jackie Petras, state auxiliary sergeant-at-arms and a member of Post 51 Auxiliary. Later the same day, the visiting officers and guests met informally with Amvet Post 51 members at the clubhouse, 5100 Lakeview Drive.

Services today for Mrs. Susie Gorbie

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. today at a Granite City funeral home for Mrs. Susie Gorbie, 90, of 5105 Lewis Ave., Mitchell.

She died at 7:50 p.m. Sunday at home. Her husband, William Gorbie, died March 25, 1971.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Mary Dams of Granite City and Mrs. Rose Landreth of Rolla, Mo.; 10 grandchildren; 19 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery, Edwardsville Township.

The state visitors were escorted and welcomed at Post 51 by Commander Clements and Mrs. McGowan, Auxiliary 51 president.

U.S. predicts car, building, steel surge

Gains of 10 per cent or more in 1977 are forecast for 91 of the 200 industries covered by the U.S. Industrial Outlook, an annual overview of the nation's business published this week by the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Automotive, steel and mobile homes lead the industry rankings, which are based on expected increases in value of shipments.

The construction industry will keep pace with the overall economic growth with an 11 per cent increase in current dollar outlays, according to the Outlook prediction.

The 500-page book is produced by more than 100 industry specialists in the Office of Business Research and Analysis. They, during the year, provide regular reports on business conditions to the White House. The biggest gain, a 37 per cent rise, is forecast for the relatively small cottonseed oil milling industry.

It will benefit from expanded cotton production and from better prices, traceable to expected shortages of soybean oil, with which it competes.

Some highlights of the 1977 U.S. Industrial Outlook are: CONSTRUCTION—Outlays for new construction activity are expected to reach $158 billion in 1977, 11 per cent above the record dollar outlays of 1976.

Residential construction will continue its strong growth, although its 17 per cent gain will be slightly below the recovery pace of the year before.

Public construction should increase six per cent, supported by increased federal aid provided for under the Public Works Employment Act of 1976.

Housing starts will rise 1.7 million with adequate availability of financing, though interest rates will remain at high levels.

Inflationary pressures should ease further over the preceding year, with price increases in the five per cent range anticipated. A moderate improvement in the employment picture is expected.

AUTOMOBILES—The automobile industry is expected to continue a strong upturn with unit sales reaching 11 million, the second best year in the industry's history.

This performance represents about a 10 per cent increase in unit sales over 1976.

STEEL—The steel industry will continue its strong recovery, posting a gain of nearly 22 per cent in value of steel mill products shipped. Near-capacity levels should be reached late in the year.

RETAIL TRADE—Growth in department stores and restaurant sales of 10 per cent will pace the industry to total sales of $704 billion in 1977.

Durable goods sales will account for 35 per cent, and non-durables 68 per cent.

AEROSPACE—Value of 1977

shipments of complete aerospace vehicles is expected to increase five per cent over 1976 levels, reaching $13.8 billion.

Unfilled orders for the aerospace industry, declining as the shipments level, will outpace new orders for the third consecutive year.

The 500-page report, "U.S. Industrial Outlook: 1977," is available at $5.85 per copy from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Aid sought for ill veteran

The Illinois Department of Veterans' Affairs is seeking aid for a veteran with a special health problem who requires transportation to and from Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, several times each year.

The Granite City man has made six or seven trips to the hospital within the past 12 months, being admitted for a short period each time. He has had to rely upon taxicab transportation for himself and someone to help him each time, which has become a heavy financial burden.

The man is 55 years old, has suffered a stroke and could not drive an automobile if one was available to him. He is partially paralyzed and can not get on a bus, so taxicabs have been his only means of transportation.

Freeman L. Clinard, service officer for the DVA, noted the man is a member of the Disabled American Veterans, but that organization has indicated it is unable to offer adequate transportation.

Clinard asked any veterans' or service clubs which may be able to aid this man to contact him at the Department of Veterans' Affairs, 215 Plaza St., Alton, or call 1-465-3216.

$10,000 instant winner

Ten thousand dollar winner in the Illinois State instant lottery game is Robert C. Johnson, an ironworker for a local construction company. Johnson, his wife Mary Jane and their two sons, Mike and Gary, live at 832 Thorngate Drive in Mitchell, Johnson, who said he plays the state lottery games occasionally, bought the winning ticket over the weekend at the Town and Country Drive-in, Rural Route Two. He won the $10,000 by matching three $10,000 figures out of six numbers on the ticket.

Area deaths up sharply during 1976

Deaths in the Quad-City area during 1976 increased 27 per cent over those in 1975, but births declined slightly below those of the previous year, according to a vital statistics report by city clerk Robert Stevens.

The report showed a total of 83 births during December, bringing the 12-month total for 1976 to 961, or 15 less than the total of 976 births in the area during 1975.

Sixty deaths occurred during December, according to the report, bringing the year's total to 509. This compared with 31 deaths in December 1975 which brought the total for the year to 400.

There were no fetal deaths during December, leaving a total of ten for the year, compared with one fetal death in December 1975, which brought that year's total to 11.

A breakdown of births, stillbirths and deaths, in that order, is as follows:
January-76-0-44; February-80-0-26; March-76-1-39; April-72-0-52; May-59-0-41; June-70-1-31; July-69-1-45; August-92-0-39; September-92-3-45; October-103-3-55; November-99-1-32; December-83-0-60.

Extend use of Olin Center

The experimental use period of the John M. Olin Conference and Cultural Center has been extended until June 30, according to Ralph W. Ruffner, acting president of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Ruffner said a decision has been made to extend the experimental use of the center to provide a more complete picture for evaluation purposes. Six events have been held since the university began an initial three-month experimental use of the center in October.

The John M. Olin family home in Fairmount is the site of the center.

Nestled in a woodland atop bluffs overlooking the Mississippi River north of Alton, the home and estate were given to the university in early 1975 with the provision that the facilities would be used exclusively for charitable, cultural, scientific, literary and educational purposes.

The six events which have been held at the center included a meeting, reception, three luncheons and a dinner.

The SUIU Foundation sponsored a luncheon during early October honoring members of the President's Club. Members of the President's Club are people of the community who have donated $10,000 or more to the foundation for scholarships, grants and loan funds.

On Oct. 16, a luncheon was held for members of the Century Club at the center. More than 100 persons attended.

The third event at the center was a meeting of the foundation's board of governors later that month.

In early November, a luncheon for wives of members of the board of directors of a bank and trust company in Alton was held at the center.

On Nov. 12, the SUIU student government held a reception at the center during which the gavel of the late Dr. Michael Hurt was presented to the SUIU student body president, Laura Ricci, by Hurt's parents. Dr. Hurt, his wife and two children were killed in an airplane crash. When he was a senior at SUIU, Hurt had served as the student body president.

Friends of Music at SUIU held their second annual Christmas party in December at the Olin Center. Theme of the festivities was "Christmas at Mount Vernon," and many of the guests selected attire indicative of early America. The dinner menu included foods prepared from recipes handed down from the time when George Washington served as President.

Last week, the SUIU Alumni Association held its board of directors meeting at the center, and a meeting of the university Senate is scheduled for tomorrow.

Charles Schweizer, director of the SUIU Foundation, is elated over the center. "Regardless of the size of the group, the Olin Center has been able to gracefully accommodate each event. All of the people who have been there have gone away impressed," he said.

The Olin Center facilities available for use are the first floor of the mansion and the immediate grounds. No cooking is permitted on the premises, but groups may take their own prepared food to the center or use an outside catering service.

Nameoki schedules township caucuses

The Nameoki Town Board of Auditors Monday night called for caucuses of the township's Democrats and Republicans to be held in the township hall and garage at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 1, a date set by law.

Louis Whitsell, supervisor of Nameoki Township, said the township must, by law, call for caucuses the first Tuesday in February of each township election year, unless the major political parties in the state had candidates in a township primary election.

At the caucuses, the registered voters of each party will be asked to determine if they wish to select a ticket to run under the party's name in the April township election.

Four years ago, the Democratic and Republican electors decided not to select a slate and to allow all candidates to run as independents.

Whitsell, one of the independent candidates for supervisor, said he hopes the caucuses again will decide not to put the candidates on major party slates and to allow all to run as independents.

"We hope someone will make a motion on each side not to have the major parties support any slates, the motions will pass and the caucuses will adjourn," Whitsell said, adding, "I sure hope the other side feels the same way because I think we all feel township government should be kept free of big party politics."

In other business, the board asked its attorney to investigate the status of zoning violations charges against a firm which allegedly is operating a business in a residential area without proper zoning.

The attorney, H. Carl Runge Jr., also was asked to study if the town board or the highway commissioner have the authority to remove no parking signs on Eduardo Drive near Route 182 to provide additional parking for Groucho's Lounge.

Whitsell said he will welcome the feelings of residents of that area on providing on-street parking areas for the lounge customers, rather than having them parking on Route 182 and elsewhere around that area.

The board was informed in a letter from the Mail Landfill that the cost to the township for dumping garbage and trash at the landfill on Chouteau Island will increase Jan. 15 by 10 cents per cubic yard.

Whitsell noted $3,119 has been received from the federal government as the grant awarded the township for the first quarter of this calendar year under the Anti-Recession Fiscal Assistance Act.

Bills ordered paid included $2,767 from the town fund, $2,499 from the federal revenue sharing fund, $1,254 from the road and bridge fund, $1,113 from the special hard road fund and $3,999 from general assistance.

Hearings on campaign finance rule revisions

Eleven public hearings on suggested revisions to the State Board of Elections' campaign financing rules will be held in various parts of the state during January.

Franklin J. Lunding, Jr., chairman, said the local hearing will be at the SIUE University Center at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 25.

"The purpose of the hearings," Lunding said, "is to solicit statewide commentary from any persons and organizations affected by the Campaign Financing Act."

He emphasized that the suggested revisions, which have been distributed throughout Illinois, are tentative proposals. The board's special project committee, which compiled the suggestions, has made no recommendations concerning them.

"The State Board of Elections has not made any determination of the validity of the suggestions contained in the proposed drafts," Lunding said. "The public hearings and the preparation of the drafts, both the narrow and broad interpretations, are intended to solicit public comment," he stressed.

"We will be most receptive to any requests for recognition at these hearings. We will also be pleased to receive any written commentary."

In order to allow the hearings to be conducted in the most efficient and productive manner, Lunding asked that those persons who intend to testify notify the State Board of Elections Chicago office, indicating the date and place preferred.

Lunding also asked that, whenever possible, witnesses deliver written summations of their comments prior to the hearings.

"Based on this public comment," he said, "the board's special project committee will make recommendations concerning the adoption of new rules and regulations to administer the complex issues involved in the Illinois Campaign Financing Act."

All of the public hearings listed below will begin at 9:30 a.m.:

Tuesday, Jan. 18 — Room 1818 at 160 N. La Salle St., Chicago.

Wednesday, Jan. 19 — Room 1818 at 160 N. La Salle St., Chicago.

Thursday, Jan. 20 — Eastern Illinois University, Tuscola-Arcola Room, Student Union, Charleston, and County Board Room, third floor, Rock Island County Office Building, Rock Island.

Friday, Jan. 21 — Illinois Central College, Sandburg Hall, Interim Campus, East Peoria, and Winnebago Courthouse, Room 101-B, Rockford.

Tuesday, Jan. 25 — Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Illinois Room, University Center, and Illinois Office of Education, 100 N. First St., Auditorium B, Springfield.

Thursday, Jan. 27 — Room 1818 at 160 N. La Salle St., Chicago.

Trustees drop their closed session plan

The Southern Illinois University Board of Trustees will not meet in executive session in January as originally planned, Chairman Ivan A. Elliott Jr. announced Tuesday.

Review of board policy regarding collective bargaining for academic employees and for others will instead await board acceptance of procedures to be proposed to the board by the System Council at the Feb. 10 board meeting on the SIUE campus.

Elliott said conversations with other board members, administrative officials and other sources had supported and helped determine the decision to wait for the overall procedural proposal. It will identify the problems to be examined and methods of approaching them.

If appropriate, an executive session can be scheduled at a later time, Elliott said.

Family goal setting

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK
Madison County
Extension Advisor

Family members live together for years, often without discovering who the other persons really are. Maybe this year your family can set goals for gaining a better understanding of each other.

To begin, take the time to share what you understand about each other. You may do this on a one-to-one basis or as a family evening of sharing. The listeners confirm what they agree with and restate any misconceptions.

A starter for a family evening could be a "name-tag exercise" to help each family member talk about himself.

Each person writes his name in the center of a paper with three to six words to describe himself. In each of the four corners, he writes or draws pictures in answer to a question. Select questions that would most help your family members talk about themselves as they share their name tag. For example: Where would you most like to travel?

Name a person who has had a special influence in your life. What was your most frightening experience?

Everyone should ask questions to find out more about what is being said or written. Follow this activity with a "what I think I know about you" discussion. Parents carry the responsibility of keeping comments positive and helpful.

Then, as a family, set goals for what can be done during the next year to improve understanding and relationships within the family.

As an individual, each family member can make specific goals to encourage him or her to know, understand and help the others.

Remember that parents play special roles in helping children recognize problems and in seeing ways to make things easier.

To help carry over the benefits of the evening, store the written materials and goals, and maybe even written comments about the evening in sealed envelopes.

A year later, review the night of sharing and check the family's progress by opening the envelopes and reading together the things that were saved.

Goal setting clarifies what each person wants to do within the family setting.

The follow-up a year later measures the family's progress. Next, the family can renew goals or set other goals.

Seek Young Careerist candidates

Young Careerist candidates still are being sought by the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club to represent the club at the district and state levels.

Mrs. Carolyn Koester, Young Careerist chairman, said prospective candidates must submit resumes and other necessary data by Monday evening, Jan. 17.

Those interested and wishing to learn more about the program may contact Mrs. Koester, at 877-3075, or Mrs. Debbie Jolly, co-chairman, at 876-1224, before the Monday deadline.

Candidates will be honored at the Young Careerist dinner meeting, scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 19, at the Hu Ke Lau Restaurant on Johnson Road.

A limited number of reservations remain for the dinner and show and may be obtained by calling Mrs. Koester, or Mrs. Jolly after 5:30 p.m. through Monday.

Young Careerist candidates are eligible for scholarships and other awards, Mrs. Koester explained.

To be eligible, a young woman must be between the ages of 21 and 28 years, inclusive, at the time of the National Business and Professional Women's convention in July 1977, and be or have been employed in business or the professions with at least one year of full-time experience in her career area. She must be outstanding in scholastic work, community service and/or church activities; either live or work, or be training or continuing her education in the area served by the Illinois Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; and support the goals, objectives and legislative platforms of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

A candidate is required to prepare a comprehensive autobiography — typed, double-spaced and no more than five pages in length.

She must submit two 5-x-7-inch photographs, head and shoulders, and at least one letter of endorsement outlining her leadership qualities; civic, church and community activities; business achievements and her maturity outlook.

Each Young Careerist candidate is required to prepare a presentation, based on the topic, "Woman's Responsibility in the Third Century."

The theme must be written in 500 words or less, typed and double-spaced. Three minutes will be allowed for the candidate to deliver the presentation.

Any working woman in the Quad-City area is invited to attend Wednesday night's dinner meeting and may call the co-chairmen for a reservation. Mrs. Sylvia Wright, local BFW president, advised.

Award winner

Donald Sonnenberg, of the Madison County sheriff's office was named the Ervin S. Warren Award recipient among 35 police officers who completed a six-week Basic Law Enforcement Course conducted in Urbana-Champaign by the University of Illinois Police Training Institute.

The Warren Award is named in honor of the Police Training Institute's first director. It goes to the student in each basic course graduating class who, in the opinion of Police Training Institute faculty, has shown outstanding academic, professional and personal qualities.

ROLE PLAYING is one of the skills employed by Linda Stone (center), a private training consultant, in teaching an assertiveness training course for female employees at Monsanto Co. Kay Brady (left) and Lucille Curtin (right) are learning how effective communication develops good business relationships as they take part in a simulated business situation.

Instruction in assertiveness

Thirty professional and non-professional women at Monsanto Co. have just completed an assertiveness training course for female employees at the company's world headquarters in this metropolitan area.

The 16-hour training program was offered during regular working hours and featured four four-hour sessions on time management, transactional analysis, effective communications and career counseling.

Shirley O. Dinger, personnel manager, said the course is part of the firm's affirmative action program. "Through this and other professional development programs, we want to give women the skills they need to improve their effectiveness within the company."

"By providing female employees with professional training in management and assertive skills," she said, "we are increasing their opportunities for high-paying positions with greater responsibilities."

Miss Samra K. Parks and David A. Riggs are wed

Miss Samra K. Parks, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parks, 1621 Moro Ave., and Marine Corporal David A. Riggs, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Riggs, 2205 Dawn Place, exchanged wedding vows in an afternoon ceremony on Jan. 1, at Emmanuel Baptist Church. The Rev. Arthur Short officiated at the 2 o'clock service. Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Parks, wore her mother's wedding gown, which was created by her mother, Mrs. Radie Cochran. The bride's dress was fashioned of white satin and designed with lace yoke edged with a scalloped satin collar, an oval neckline and long tapered sleeves terminating with points over the wrists. Her semi-full skirt extended into a cathedral length train and was accented with a lace overlay on the back of the skirt creating a reverse apron effect. She wore a lace headpiece to secure a melody length veil of illusion bordered with a lace trim and she held a bouquet of white pom poms, miniature pink roses and baby's breath, festooned with lace streamers. Maid of honor, Miss Teresa Butler, selected a long pink polyester dress featuring a square neckline defined with wide white lace and long sleeves designed with ruffled cuffs edged in matching lace. She wore a wreath of baby's breath, pink roses and green rose leaves in her hair and carried a nosegay of pink and white pom poms intermingled with baby's breath. The groom, whose Charlie Haws as his best man. Preceding the ceremony organist Mrs. Margie Ellsworth accompanied her daughter, Marjean Ellsworth as she sang.

NEWLYWEDS. Marine Corporal and Mrs. David A. Riggs whose wedding took place at Emmanuel Baptist Church. Formerly Miss Samra K. Parks, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Parks, 1621 Moro Ave.

Consumers

spread through Europe, Asia, Africa and Great Britain.

Just recently, American human-factor engineers have embraced ergonomics and have joined in an international exchange of knowledge.

As a study, ergonomics is broader in context and connotation than its American counterpart, human-factor engineering.

Ergonomics has traditionally been oriented toward the study and solution of problems in work and home environments.

Human-factor engineering itself, until recently, has been much more concerned with the study of problems in the military and space environments.

Let me give you some examples of what ergonomics can do for the consumer.

We still have little relief from low back pain—the long-term consequences of poor seating, lifting and posture generally.

This problem is now under study by a group of ergonomists.

The study may result in redesigning our chairs, tables and desks.

In other words, here's where anatomy comes into design.

In operation of manual controls—in our push-button, society—we need to know the strengths and limitations of the thumb, finger, wrist, elbow and shoulder in context of speed, precision and endurance.

Ergonomists research before they design and build, considering who will use the products.

And, of course, this is in the consumers' interest.

Ergonomists are involved in designing and developing cleaning methods and tools to suit the housewife.

They study "people service" of hospitals, schools, shops and transportation systems.

One merely has to read "Consumer Reports" or "Consumers Research" to see where—in product, or in product—someone at the drafting board forgot that the product was to be used by a person.

We learn about exposed heating elements in dishwashers, about steam irons that spew out jets of hot water after a few minutes of operation; exposed parts of compost grinders; and baby carriages that have a tendency to tip over.

There is an endless list of problems of safety, comfort and design for ergonomics to solve.

Crane falls

determined today, officials said.

They commented that possible ways of using a portable crane or rigging some other device to pick up the slabs from the blooming mill conveyor and load them onto railroad cars are being explored and it is hoped that the loading operation can be resumed by early tomorrow.

Slab rolling operations at the blooming mill were halted immediately after the crane fell because there was no crane able to lift the heavy slabs from the conveyor.

There is a sufficient number of slabs in reserve to keep the hot strip and subsequent operations at their normal operating level and no reduction of steel output is anticipated, if the blooming mill can be returned to operation tomorrow, a spokesman said.

If problems develop to delay the resumption of operations at the blooming mill, the shortages would begin to affect the hot strip, where the slabs are rolled into sheets, in about two weeks.

Decreased output from the hot strip could cause a shortage of materials to the cold strip and eventually to the customers, but that is not expected to occur, the company spokesman said.

Work to dismantle and remove the damaged overhead crane and to devise a temporary crane began shortly after Tuesday's accident, it was noted.

The off-campus education program in the Granite City School District has grown from 65 students to 282 over the past two years, according to Donald Shaffner, co-ordinator of the program.

Shaffner spoke at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Granite City Rotary Club in the YMCA. The program has 80 employers participating. With the exception of handicapped students, the employer pays the salary of the student without reimbursement, according to Shaffner.

The five basic areas of the program are business and marketing, personal and public service, industrial, health and cosmetology.

The major project of the staff in the program currently is finishing program guidelines for the approval by the Board of Education.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Buente; a son, Ray Buente of Granite City; one daughter, Mrs. William (Barbara) Olson of Rome, Italy; one brother, William Buente of Granite City; two sisters, Mrs. Al (Blanche) Gehlert and Mrs. Esther Baumbarger, both of Granite City, and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Burglary victim is arrested

An assortment of dresses, a crockpot and an electric heater were stolen from the apartment of Verna Farley, 945 Niedringhaus Ave., Apt. 1, between 6:30 p.m. Monday and 6:05 p.m. Tuesday. The door latch was forced open to gain entry.

Verna Farley, who police said also uses the name Robin Fargus, was arrested at her apartment at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday and was charged with disorderly conduct for allegedly using voice and abusive language and voicing a threat against another resident of that apartment building.

each child's unique capabilities. "We can learn so much from children's play," Mrs. Nall said. "We learn about their methods of problem solving and reasoning."

These observations help parents and teachers learn how to play with and stimulate babies. She said knowledge used to help educate youngsters at very early ages adds to rather than takes anything away from the important roles parents play in development.

More and more, early childhood programs are being developed as more is learned about the learning process. The professor said some of these programs are now under way in high schools where child development classes are educating students who will someday become parents.

The women's liberation movement is also playing a role in the development of new childhood programs. With more and more working mothers, there is a greater need for high quality care and education for young children.

"I believe it is the quality, not the quantity, of time spent with children," she said. "Attitudes are so important."

"The mother must have a good attitude toward what she is doing. If the mother does not want to be spending time with her child at home, it shows."

"Most mothers with careers outside the home look forward to the time spent with their children. They learn to be friends with and enjoy their children," she said.

SIUE students working toward their degrees in early childhood education find that they will be much more than glorified baby-sitters after graduation.

Their course work includes general studies classes, courses in the humanities and fine arts, and 48 quarter-hours of early childhood education courses.

Even though working with pre-schoolers is time consuming and emotionally and physically draining, Mrs. Nall said it is a rewarding field.

Many of her students are changing careers and returning to SIUE to study early childhood education.

"Some have been in other fields. One woman was a band director for years and came back to school specifically for early childhood education," she said.

There are also men enrolled in the program. "It is not a matter of sex," she commented. "It is a matter of desire to work with young children. It is a personal preference independent of sex and, as a matter of fact, many centers gain prestige if they have a man on their staff."

Charles Dollar of Collinsville already has a bachelor of science degree in business from McKendree College and has returned to SIUE to get a degree to qualify him to work with pre-schoolers. Dollar said he left the world of business three years ago to work with kids.

"I worked with two and three-year-olds in my church Sunday school," he said. "I am a bachelor and just love kids. I enjoy setting up learning experiences with children using just about anything that is available."

Dollar hopes to work in a church-affiliated day care center when he graduates. "Children are fascinating," he concludes. "I love to watch them and help them grow."

National 'march for life' planned

Members of Illinois and Missouri pro-life groups, including many young people, will leave by chartered buses from the steps of the Gateway Arch at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 21, bound for the National March for Life in Washington, D.C.

The bi-state group will join a projected 65,000 persons in the march on Saturday, Jan. 22, the fourth anniversary of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision favoring abortions.

The march will originate at the Capitol, proceed down Pennsylvania Avenue past the White House and culminate in a mass rally on the Ellipse. Pro-life supporters will seek to make an impression on the new 90th Congress and on President-elect Jimmy Carter, the latter in office only two days at that time. Upon arrival in Washington, the two-state group is to attend a brunch at the Hyatt-Regency Hotel. Guests at the brunch will include congressmen from Illinois and Missouri.

Following the march and rally, the group will attend a special Mass at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception at 4:30 p.m. The Mass will be celebrated by priests from Missouri and Illinois.

After a dinner at Catholic University, the group will depart for St. Louis at 7 p.m., arriving at the Gateway Arch at 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 23.

The event is sponsored primarily by the National Pro-Life Coalition, St. Louis Chapter, Missouri Citizens for Life, Belleville Area Right to Life and the Belleville Diocese Pro-Life Committee. However, all pro-life groups in this region are participating.

Reservations may be made through tomorrow at 235-1713.

Pontoon Beach Lions Club chairmen named

Richard McIntosh and Mike Bradley Briggs have been appointed as chairmen of three newly-revised committees of the Pontoon Beach Lions Club, according to Club Secretary Robert Carroll.

McIntosh, vice-president of the club, was appointed as chairman of the Sight Conservation Committee with Jerry W. Henderson, Loren Madison and Bobby L. Morgan serving as committee members. The sight conservation committee receives all applications for local eye services, such as eyeglasses and optical needs.

McIntosh also will chair the Membership Committee with Jim Williams, Frank Cramer and Robert Carroll being appointed as committee members. The membership committee screens all membership applications and then makes recommendations to the club's board of directors on the applicants.

Mike Bradley Briggs, second vice-president of the club, was appointed chairman of the Fund Raising and Activity Committee with James Whaley Jr., Robert Douglas and Keith Harley as committee members.

The committee appointments were made by the club president, Donald D. Patrick, and approved by the club's board of directors during the last board of directors meeting. Secretary Carroll also announced that the club membership has voted to review the standard form Lions Club constitution and by-laws recommended by the International Association of Lions Clubs. The membership has voted to adopt the recommended constitution and by-laws by the end of February, Carroll stated.

Carroll also announced that the Lions collected over 800 cans of food during their recent Christmas holiday "Give a Can" drive. Carroll said that the Lions Club, with the cooperation of Pontoon Beach Co-Ordinated Youth Services and the local Explorer Post, Boy Scout Troop and St. Ignace Skate Center, provided food for over 25 needy families in the Pontoon Beach-Nameoki Township area.

Pontoon Beach Co-Ordinated Youth Services provided toys and clothing for the needy families. Carroll said that the Lions Club wanted to thank all the citizens for being so generous with their donations of canned goods when the Lions went calling door to door.

Bond retained as state transportation secretary; Baird will lead state police Governor James R. Thompson on Tuesday named directors of three state departments and also announced the appointment of an Illinois State Police corporal to head the state police force.

At a news conference in Springfield during his first full day as governor of Illinois, Thompson appointed:

Robert M. Whittier, director of the Illinois Department of Revenue.

William J. Boys, director of the Illinois Department of Personnel.

Langhorne M. Bond, secretary of the Department of Transportation.

Corporal Lynn E. Baird, superintendent of the Illinois State Police.

Thompson said his selection of the four men came after long and careful interviews. He said he was confident they were the best available people for their positions.

Thompson said that he would work with Republicans and Democrats in the Illinois Senate in the hope that the Senate would quickly give its advice and consent.

The appointments marked the first cabinet-level nominations by the new governor, who was sworn in on Monday.

Whittier, 38, director designate of the Department of Revenue, is administrative vice-president of the Corporate Services Division of Horace Mann Educators Corporation in Springfield.

Prior to entering the private sector, Whittier was director of the Department of Statistics and Data Processing of the Illinois Office of Education.

From 1964 to 1967, he was an educational systems analyst and admissions counselor at Illinois Wesleyan University in Bloomington.

Whittier is a graduate of Eureka College, Eureka, Ill., in business administration. He received a master of science degree in guidance and counseling at Illinois State University and has done advanced graduate work at Illinois State University, Normal.

Whittier is a member of the Board of Trustees of Eureka College and a member of the International Accounting and Statistical Association and of the National Corporate Controllers Group.

A Springfield resident, Whittier is married and has two children.

Boys, the Personnel Department appointee, is assistant director of the Illinois State minority staff.

Boys, 49, of Springfield, is the former deputy director of the Illinois Department of Personnel — April 1969 to May 1973 — and has served with that department for nearly 20 years.

His positions with the department have included manager of the Fiscal and General Services Division, executive assistant to the director of the department, and chief of the Data Systems Division.

Boys is a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan University with a bachelor degree in psychology and has done graduate work at the University of Illinois.

In addition to his experience in the Department of Personnel, Boys was employed by the Illinois Civil Service Commission beginning in 1951.

His affiliation with the commission ended in 1956 when he was reassigned to the Department of Personnel, after having directed the rewriting of all class specifications from the civil service concept to that of the Department of Personnel.

Boys served in the Air Force from 1945 to 1947. He is active in the Masonic fraternity, Elks and American Legion. He is married and has two children.

The superintendent designate of the Illinois State Police is a Park Forest resident.

Cpl. Baird, 42, has an extensive background in law enforcement, having served with the Illinois State Police for 19 years. Currently, he is in the Executive Security Division and served with Gov. Thompson during his recent campaign.

Since 1957, Baird's various assignments have included homicide investigations, major auto theft and the Illinois Toll Road Patrol.

In the Executive Security area, Baird has served with former Governors Otto Kerner, Samuel Shapiro, Richard Ogilvie and Daniel Walker.

Cpl. Baird is a member of the Illinois Police Association, the Federation of Police and International Auto Theft Investigators.

A Chicago native, Baird is a graduate of the Illinois State Police Academy and attended Chicago public schools. He is married with two children.

Gov. Thompson reappointed 39-year-old Langhorne Bond as Secretary of Transportation.

Prior to his appointment as Illinois transportation secretary in 1973, Bond was director of the National Transportation Center in Pittsburgh.

He has also served in the U.S. Department of Transportation as well as other transportation jobs.

Bond is a former special assistant to United States Secretary of Transportation Allan Boyd.

Through his experience in the U.S. Department of Transportation and other transportation agencies, he has acquired a diverse background in virtually all modes of transportation technology.

The National Transportation Center is a non-profit organization for the development of mass transit technology.

Before joining the center, he was assistant administrator for public affairs in the Urban Mass Transportation Administration from 1968 to 1969.

Bond is an attorney and also served in the legal department of the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board. He was a special assistant to the undersecretary of commerce for transportation in the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Bond is a graduate of the University of Virginia, where he majored in philosophy, and a graduate of the University of Virginia Law School.

Best to worst state fiscal position in four-year span

During the past four years, Illinois' financial position has moved "from the best in the state's history to the worst," Comptroller George Lindberg said during the weekend.

A tax increase has been avoided during the period, he said, but only through the use of complicated financial maneuvers, depleting the state's reserves and borrowing from future revenues.

In his last financial report, Lindberg said, "There are no estimates may be too high, failing to take into account a less favorable, national economic outlook since the estimates were made, and also the declining income from the state lottery, down by $16 million during the first six months of fiscal 1976-77."

In addition, the state faces a backlog of problems that hold a potential fiscal impact, Lindberg said. Included are:

1. A threatened pullback by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare of $188 million in aid already received by the state, primarily for mental health services, and disallowance of $66 million in federal reimbursement for social service costs.

2. The question of cost-of-living hikes for state employees and public aid recipients, who received their last boost two years ago. Tens of millions of dollars could be needed, Lindberg said.

3. The discussed lifting of the

"The governor's projection of a $100 million end-of-year balance is unrealistic," Lindberg said.

The governor's projection of $100 million ignores General Assembly overrides of his own spending votes. It also ignores looming deficiencies in the departments of public aid, corrections and labor that may exceed a $50 million total, Lindberg said.

Also, the comptroller said, the governor's present revenue estimates may be too high, failing to take into account a less favorable, national economic outlook since the estimates were made, and also the declining income from the state lottery, down by $16 million during the first six months of fiscal 1976-77."

In addition, the state faces a backlog of problems that hold a potential fiscal impact, Lindberg said. Included are:

2. The question of cost-of-living hikes for state employees and public aid recipients, who received their last boost two years ago. Tens of millions of dollars could be needed, Lindberg said.

3. The discussed lifting of the October 1975 freeze on Medicaid service payments to hospitals. A court decision could come at any time, which, if unfavorable, could cost the state up to an added $60 million, he related.

Summing up the situation, Lindberg said, "Spending growth in fiscal 1976 cannot exceed $300 million more than in fiscal 1977 without a tax increase."

"This means that proponents of added spending programs must adjust their expectations downward."

"For example, if the Office of Education were to receive the full $225 million in added spending, only $75 million would remain to meet the added needs of higher education, public aid, mental health and all other state operations."

"The state can make it through fiscal 1978 without new taxes," Lindberg said, "if we are willing to stop deficit spending and return to a balanced budget."

State aids in recovering back pay

Three divisions of the Illinois Department of Labor recovered nearly $3,000,000 in wages owed to employees last year. The largest sum of money ordered paid was by the Wage Claims Division, which obtained $2,864,000 for wage earners last year. This division's activities are accelerating at such a rate that over $350,000 was returned to workers in December alone.

Donald A. Johnson, Illinois director of labor, said the nearly $3,000,000 was the largest total ever ordered returned to wage earners by the state Labor Department in one year. "This figure represents 18,500 Illinois wage earners who have wages coming, hadn't gotten them, and came to us for relief," he said.

"None sought giant sums of money. Some were in the hundreds of dollars, and many involved less than $100."

"If a worker is making only the minimum wage of $2.30 an hour, his take-home pay is often less than $70 a week. Just a few dollars in these times is important to him, as it is to all of us who work for a living."

Johnson said the funds ordered paid by the three divisions were under three separate laws administered by the Illinois Department of Labor.

"First, the Wage Claims Division enforces the Wage Payment and Collection Act. Under this law, workers who have not been paid enough for vacations, commissions or other benefits, or who have had wages illegally withheld from their checks because of alleged breakages or shortages, can come to the department and we will investigate. This division investigated 8,197 cases last year."

"The Labor Law Enforcement Division enforces, among several laws the state minimum wage law. Again, persons who believe they are not being paid the state's minimum wage—which does not apply to all workers—can file a complaint and we will investigate."

"This division found violations in 9,966 cases and ordered payment of $14,000 in back wages last year. In the past six months, the division has doubled the amount of money collected and has ordered payment of $14,000 in back wages last year. In the past six months, the division has doubled the amount of money collected and has ordered payment of $14,000 in back wages last year."

Illinois Bell marks service milestones during 1976 year

Looking back at 1976, Illinois Bell sees a year of landmarks, according to Ken Evers, manager of Illinois Bell in Granite City.

The nation marked its 200th birthday and the telephone industry marked its centennial, he said.

Illinois Bell marked a record year of building for the future. For the seventh consecutive year, the company spent more than $1 million a day to replace aging equipment and to modernize and expand facilities for better telephone service. The company invested a record $447 million to provide for the needs of telephone customers throughout the state, Evers noted.

Illinois Bell's tax bill for federal, state and local taxes reached an estimated $384 million. This, together with federal excise taxes billed to Illinois Bell customers, brought total taxes to nearly $54 per telephone.

During the year, the Bell System contributed significantly to the economy of the Granite City area, Evers said. Local expenditures including wages, purchases and other payments, amounted to $1,844,116.

Service improvement projects in Granite City included putting into service a new electronic switching system central office which brought to the community the latest equipment and service features available in the Bell System.

Throughout the state, Illinois Bell people and their partners from other Bell System units (including Western Electric and Bell Telephone Laboratories, and AT&T's Long Lines Department) achieved a number of service milestones.

Among the year's service highlights: The first No. 4 electronic switching system for long distance calling was opened for business in Chicago last January. The new system can process an incredible 150 calls a second—four times as many as the most advanced systems previously available.

At Hanover, Ill., a new earth station in handling signals from a domestic communications satellite system jointly owned by the Bell System and General Telephone and Electronics. The satellite system, which went into service in March, has circuits capable of handling 25,000 telephone conversations at a time.

On Sept. 16, with the completion of the new universal emergency service, the company took a giant step forward toward providing all telephone users with a single number that quickly summons police, fire and emergency ambulance services. Some 22 Illinois Bell-served communities now have 911, and the Illinois legislature has called for statewide application of 911 by the end of 1980.

During the year, Illinois Bell noted the resumption of normal growth levels in telephone usage after a slump caused by a national economic slowdown. The company handled over 38 million calls a day. But costs, too, continued to escalate because of continued inflation.

In Granite City, there was a gain of 1,200 telephones during the year, bringing the total number of phones in service to 43,600, Evers said.

In February, the Illinois Commerce Commission granted the company a five per cent rate increase. But comparing that increase to inflation-caused cost increases of 20 per cent, Illinois Bell President James E. Olson called the increase "woefully inadequate."

In July, the company asked for increases totaling about six per cent which would fall mainly on optional services. That request probably will be decided in mid-1977.

In September, the telephone industry's attention turned to Washington, where a Congressional committee held preliminary hearings on the Consumer Communications Reform Act of 1976. The proposed legislation is designed to reaffirm the nation's traditional communications policy of encouraging low residential phone rates.

The legislation, supported by the Bell System and the nation's 1,600 independent telephone companies, follows a series of federal regulatory decisions which have opened up parts of the telecommunications market.

It was also a major year of activity for the Telephone Pioneers of America, a service organization composed of veteran telephone employees with 18 years or more of service, Evers concluded.

Lower mortgage rates for home buying in '77

Families seeking to purchase a home will find the first half of 1977 a better than usual time in finding home financing, while inflation remains the chief concern of the savings and loan associations which will provide most of that mortgage money, it was asserted this week.

In recent weeks, the national money market has served to push down the interest rates charged on home loans in Illinois, especially in the Chicago area.

The prime mortgage rate—on loans in which there is a 20 per cent down payment—ranges from a high of 8 1/2 per cent at many savings and loans to a low of 8 1/4 per cent at other associations.

The Illinois Savings and Loan League on Tuesday cited the views of six savings and loan executives.

George K. Allison of Illinois' largest savings association, First Federal of Chicago, says, "There is still an easy money policy at the Federal Reserve. Demand for bank loans has not increased, and this leads one to the conclusion that there is little upward pressure on rates in the immediate future."

Thomas J. Martin, executive vice-president at Clyde Savings and Loan in North Riverside, sees a stable mortgage situation for some months.

"I expect rates at the end of June 1977 to be the same as they are today," he says. "We may see a softening during the winter months to possibly 7 1/2 per cent, but I expect loan demand to be more than last year and savings flows to remain about the same as last year."

While lower mortgage rates help the home buyer, they press the lender on the high interest rates he must pay for long-term certificates in order to obtain that mortgage money. George H. Crippen at Carbondale Savings and Loan says he hopes that the prime mortgage rate doesn't fall farther than it has. If it does, some associations may have to consider eliminating the higher paying certificates of deposit, he adds.

One financial advisor forecasts that "deposit growth and the financial condition of thrift institutions should sustain solid mortgage growth over the next two years."

Timothy J. Haas, economist for Boreraki and Co. of Chicago, investment counsel to the Illinois Savings and Loan League, says that the new year is expected to see an increase of $50 billion in deposits, including interest credited to accounts, at S&Ls. Many thrift associates are finding they have more money than they can use in home lending, he notes.

Haas indicates the likelihood of a nine per cent usury limit in Illinois at the end of 1977, the same as the January limit, which means mortgage and other long-term rates would remain relatively stable. A survey of thrift institutions managers shows continuing anxiety with inflation.

Allison calls it "still the overriding concern," while savings and loans which rely primarily on long-term interest must have economic stability, which cannot be achieved in an inflationary environment.

A manager in Aurora agrees and has expressed alarm. "Unless governments on both levels—state and federal—begin to control spending, the runaway inflation that could occur could destroy our financial system."

Richard C. May of Illini Federal Savings says that "controlling inflation and pursuing those policies that will help produce a relatively stable economy without the excesses of the recent past" are his largest concerns.

On this score, economist Haas is reassuring when he calls 1977 a "pretty bright picture compared to the past" rising inflation rate. He sees an average inflation rate for the year of about 5.1 or 5.2 per cent in the Consumer Price Index, compared to 5.7 per cent that is estimated for 1976.

"The slowdown over the past nine months has meant better things regarding inflation for the past year," he says—"a vast improvement over a couple years ago when the nation experienced double-digit inflation."

The president of the Illinois Savings and Loan League, Adam Johns of Chicago, feels homebuilding should move ahead slowly but steadily.

He notes that in the first three quarters of 1976, about 491,000 houses were sold in the U.S., while in 1975 only 437,000 sales were made in the same period. The inventory of unsold homes at the end of September 1976 was below that of a year before, indicating a healthier selling atmosphere, he comments.

"Advances in income and employment, ample mortgage money along with stable mortgage rates, and moderated inflation should be conducive to the single-family market," Johns says.

He sees less potential for the recovery of building starts in housing units for two or more families. "Much will depend on the initiatives of the new Carter administration, which is discussing additional subsidies to housing."

MRS. AVIS MOORE IS CLUB HOSTESS

Mrs. Avis Moore, 2930 East 25th St., entertained members of the We Five Club during the weekend for its monthly meeting.

Following an early evening dinner games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Emma Gobble, Mrs. Caroline Lux and Mrs. Della Hagen. Also present was Mrs. Edith Young and a guest, Mrs. Fern Johnson.

Mrs. Lux will host the Feb. 4 meeting in her home, 2209 Kirkpatrick Homes.

Pacifier warning

The Illinois Department of Public Health has warned that a large number of a certain type of baby pacifier, which may pose a serious hazard to babies, may still be in the hands of consumers.

The pacifiers, known as Chupetes, are marked in four series marked "Fauna," "Flora," "Texas" and "Navy."

They are imported from Spain and are usually sold in plastic and cardboard casings with pictures on the backing and the name of the series in large letters on the top. The pacifier sells for about 45 cents.

Dr. Joyce Lashof, director of the state health department, said the pacifiers have a plastic shield that is small enough to be caught in a child's throat, resulting in asphyxiation. The death of a five-month-old boy in New York occurred in this manner last year.

At that time, the pacifiers were recalled by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission. Approximately 100,000 of the original 165,000 have been returned to the manufacturer since that time.

The pacifiers are two inches long with a one-inch soft rubber nipple and a flexible plastic super-shaped shield, at the base of the nipple, approximately one-and-one-half inches in diameter.

The handle of the pacifier is in the shape of either an animal head, a flower, a baby with a cowboy hat or a baby with a sailor cap. The shield is marked "Made in Spain" in small molded letters.

They are usually displayed for sale on a large cardboard sign with markings similar to those on the package. The word "Chupete" appears on the display.

"Anyone who suspects he may have one of these pacifiers," she said, "should take it away from the child immediately, and return it to the place of purchase for a refund."

She asked that anyone who may have one notify the Illinois Department of Public Health, Consumer Product Safety Program, 535 Jefferson, Springfield 62761 and include the name and address of the place of purchase.

Agronomy Day Jan. 18

By RON CORNWELL
Madison County
Agricultural Advisor
"Weather and the Farmer" is one of the featured topics on the 1977 Agronomy Day program. Jim Brivell, chairman of the science and planning department at Southern Illinois University will discuss the weather patterns and how they might affect the farmer over the next few years.

I want to encourage Madison County farmers to mark Jan. 18 on their calendar. This is the date of the 1977 Agronomy Day in Madison County. The program will be held at the Farm Bureau Building, 900 Hillsboro, Edwardsville. Registration will start at 9:30 a.m. with the program starting at 9:55 a.m.

As in the past, I am sure many farmers will be looking forward to the slide presentations of two local farm operations. Leslie Malan, Highland area farmer, will show slides and discuss the Malan farm operation. The discussion will center on the grain operation. Roland and Leslie Malan use minimum tillage in their production of grain sorghum and other grain which is a source of feed for their swine operation.

Marvin Stille, Alhambra area farmer, will have a slide presentation on the Stille dairy operation. He will emphasize the production of forages as a feed supply. The Stille's operate a 49-cow dairy farm.

Bob Bunselmeier, Granite City area farmer, will discuss his observations on the double crop soybean variety plots. Because of interest by several Madison County farmers last year, the Extension Council established the double crop soybean variety plots for the first time this year.

The regular soybean and wheat variety plots have become a tradition in Madison County. Stan Henderson, assistant extension adviser in Madison County, will present a summary of the results of the soybean and wheat variety plots. The soybean variety plots were on the Rich Bauer farm in Chouteau township this year. The wheat variety plots were on the Bob Henschen farm in Leef township.

Soybean cyst nematode was found in Madison County for the first time this year. I will be discussing the cyst nematode problem as a part of the morning program.

The morning program will start with a dual projector slide presentation of "100 Years of Forever." Robert Carlock, University of Illinois area adviser in resource development, will make the slide presentation.

The afternoon program will cover the latest insect and weed control recommendations for Madison County. John Wedberg, U. of I. Extension entomologist, and Marshall McClannery, U. of I. Extension weed specialist, will present the afternoon program.

Lunch will be sponsored by Madison County agri-business.

January is the time many Madison County farmers start preparing their tax returns. To help answer some of your tax questions, we have the Farmer's Tax Guide available at the extension office. You can obtain a copy by calling or stopping by the extension office.

During November the U. of I. Extension Service sponsored a workshop for beginning income tax preparers. The three-day workshop provided intensive instruction for figuring and filing income tax returns for farmers and urban citizens.

Persons who enrolled for the beginners workshop from Madison County included: Mrs. Alma F. Barker, Mrs. Joyce Franklin and Mrs. Mary Halde of Collinsville; Mrs. Leale Malan of the Highland area; Alan Rodachowski of the Alton area; and Mrs. Elaine Wendler of the Edwardsville area.

In addition to the beginners tax school, 89 tax practitioners from Madison County attended the advanced tax school. I would urge any Madison County farmer with tax problems to seek the counsel of a competent income tax practitioner or consultant.

In November, 1975, I sent a questionnaire on farm leasing practices in Madison County to the majority of the farmers in the county. The response to the questionnaire was excellent. The results indicate that the rent share agreement is still the main form of leasing in the county. Over 65 per cent of the returns indicated a one-third rent share agreement was still being used. Eighteen per cent indicated they were using some form of cash rent.

The use of an oral lease has been customary in Madison County in the past. The questionnaire indicates this situation has been changed very little. Eighty-nine per cent of farmers using the one-third rent share agreement still use an oral lease. Eleven per cent use a written lease.

I found it interesting that 40 per cent of the farmers reporting were using double cropping in their farming operations.

Copies of the leasing survey are available upon request from the Madison County Extension office.

Confer on home owner assistance

Community development and financial experts from major midwestern and eastern cities in the United States will be featured at a conference on "Helping Inter City Homeowners." Community Development Leveraging Programs and the Lending Institutions" Jan. 27-28 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The conference is sponsored by the SIUE Center for Urban and Environmental Research and Services (CUERS) with the cooperation of the Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs.

Herbert G. Bowers of Philadelphia National Bank, James Bringley of South Shore National Bank of Chicago and Norman Tice of City Bank in St. Louis will be among the speakers laying out specifications for community-responsive mortgage lending practices.

In response, local government and community development officials will discuss and evaluate their public programs assisting homeowners in inner city neighborhoods, according to Mark L. Drucker, visiting assistant professor and research associate at CUERS. Cities featured will include Chicago, St. Louis, Memphis and East St. Louis.

Drucker said the purpose of the conference is "to facilitate planning and implementation of the best possible public-private cooperative programing."

To help in this process, panelists will discuss the application of modified urban triage approaches in Memphis and St. Louis, the Federal National Mortgage Association's view of St. Louis as a national case study of urban investment, performance definitions and indicators for neighborhood programming, and priority-setting for community development revenue sharing funds.

Other speakers will include Lawrence Rosser of the Woodstock Project; Carl Fox of the St. Louis Neighborhood Housing Information Center; Timothy Griffin, Illinois state savings and loan commissioner; Stanley Piekarski, Missouri state representative and chairman of the Missouri House Select Committee on Urban Restoration; Gary Tobin, professor of urban studies at Washington University; and Paul Dubro of St. Louis Neighborhood Housing Services.

Drucker said key questions which the conference will address will include:

What are the variations in approach of community development leveraging programs? What should be the specifications for community-responsive lending practices of financial institutions?

If homeowner assistance programs are designed to stabilize neighborhoods, what are practical definitions of targeting selected neighborhoods? How much of a community development priority is help to inner city homeowners? What are the implications of targeting selected neighborhoods?

Conference sessions will be held at the Religious Center area in the River Rooms of the University Center, and participants will be welcomed by SIUE's new president, Kenneth Shaw, and the acting director of CUERS, Alfred Kahn.

Other speakers from this area will include Mary Kane, of the Madison County Community Development Department; Robert Mendelson, associate professor and research associate at CUERS; John R. Casey, installment loan division manager for Germania Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Darryl L. Thompson, St. Clair County intergovernmental services coordinator; St. Jerome Pratt, Team Four, St. Louis; Ernest Calloway, St. Louis Community Development Agency commissioner; and professor of urban affairs at St. Louis University, Charles Kindelberger, St. Louis Community Development Agency, and David Long, East St. Louis Community Development Agency.

Jack Dempsey, a rehabilitation specialist, will represent the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

John Dudas of the Memphis Policy Planning and Analysis Bureau and Edward Martin of the National Association of Housing and Urban Development Officials also will be panelists.

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs will be represented by Jane Vogel.

All planning to attend the conference are being encouraged to preregister by writing or calling the SIUE Office of Conferences and Institutes, telephone 692-2660. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Professor Drucker at CUERS, 699-3032.

New governor trying to regain lost ground

SPRINGFIELD — Is Big Jim getting a bum rap?

Maybe. There is a feeling beneath the Statehouse Dome that Gov. James R. Thompson, 40, has brought most of his troubles upon himself, but that he still has a good chance of repairing much of the damage.

An astounding turn of events the man who was elected governor by the greatest plurality in history suddenly finds himself an unpopular figure.

The popularity crisis is probably just the first of many that Thompson will face during his unprecedented two-year term.

But it is indeed a major one and one that must be dealt with quickly and effectively if he is to survive his 24-month crucible and win a regular four-year term in 1978.

His immediate task is to regain the support of the voters and taxpayer's. Secondly, he must establish a far better rapport with the legislators.

Thompson has already acted wisely in retreating from his stand in favor of a pay raise for elected officials including himself. But that unfortunate original endorsement is likely to haunt him through the next election.

His belated arrival in Springfield to participate in the wintery of the veto session of the legislature may help soothe the feelings of some lawmakers who feel he has been neglecting state affairs while courtier national attention.

The big complaint about Thompson at the Statehouse is that he is running for president before he has served as governor. Even Gov. Dan Walker, it is said, didn't do that.

The presidential matter is what got Thompson into deep water in the first place. But in fairness and objectivity it must be said there were extenuating circumstances.

Thompson, after all, did not ask to go on the national television program. Meet The Press. He was invited and this is certainly an invitation that no young and ambitious politician would be expected to turn down.

Nor were the frequent Washington and other eastern interviews something that any man who had just won a smashing victory in a major state would be expected to avoid.

It was the media that sought out Thompson and not vice versa. The political woods are not exactly full of young and successful Republicans. This is a time when new faces are the political thing and Thompson certainly fills the role.

His problem was that he came across as overly eager to move into the White House. Illinois political veterans believe he could have protected his political popularity back home and also enhanced his presidential prospects through a more conservative response.

They say he could have dismissed the presidential speculation as something for the future and more strongly stressed that his big interest right now is steering Illinois through the looming financial crisis.

But criticism of his presidential preoccupation was but a whisper compared to the roar of indignation that greeted his stand for a pay raise.

More money for any politician is a sensitive matter to the higher tax-conscious Illinoisan and for Thompson to mention the subject in virtually the same breath urging "a year of sacrifice" was too much.

It has become about as rare to hear someone say a good word about Jim Thompson as it was about Mike Howlett in the recent campaign.

It is hardly an exaggeration to state that Thompson has achieved the incredible feat of a popularity rating lower than that of his two one-term predecessors, Richard B. Ogilvie and Walker.

Indeed, Thompson's flap on the pay raise has been the biggest boost to Walker's political future since Paul Simon mentioned the income tax.

Beneath the Statehouse Dome there is now a feeling that there is about as much chance of Dan Walker not running for governor in 1978 as there is of Billy Carter going on the wagon.

Emphasis on efficiency, candor by state's 37th governor

Newly inaugurated as the 37th governor of Illinois, James R. Thompson chose appropriate goals Monday in calling for governmental efficiency and integrity as ways to increase the level of public confidence in state actions.

He said in his inaugural address that his administration—taking office for only a two-year span—will try to earn trust by assuring that jobs are not bought, favors are not sold and promises are not ignored. He pledged that he and his staff will not deny mistakes, camouflage failure, avoid questions or support higher taxes if state revenue is misused.

"Every budget item will be questioned, and pursuit of marginal programs will yield to delivery of essential services," Gov. Thompson told the thousands who saw new Illinois officials take their oaths of office in the Armory at Springfield.

He stressed that there are deficiencies in state government but that these can be cured by "simple honesty and openness and candor."

"If this had been the creed followed by government at every level," the 40-year-old Republican chief executive said, "public officials would not now be in prison, your taxes would not now be misspent, politics would not now be disgraced, government would not now be mistrusted and apathy would not now reign."

A landslide winner in November, the former federal prosecutor appealed for more harmony and voiced displeasure over "tactics of confrontation and politics of division."

"In recent years, too many in government have seemed interested in power for its sake alone. Too many others have seemed committed to public service as a means to private gain. And too many others have seemed dedicated as much to public relations as to performance," he asserted.

"Every Illinois conservative I know, every Illinois liberal I know, every Illinois taxpayer I know is more concerned with the efficiency of the government's programs than with the party of the government here in Springfield, as in Chicago or Washington, has little to do with parties or ideologies or labels. It has everything to do with earning your trust."

Party politics obviously are not going to recede from view during the 1977-78 administration, but overly-strident partisan emphasis would benefit neither Democrats or Republicans. It is much more important that this state's problems be solved, rather than the legislative or executive branches contending themselves with excusing their failures to perform by blaming "the other guys."

Although the new governor's campaign and inaugural remarks undoubtedly were influenced by public relations concepts, we think and hope he is wise enough to know the truth of what he said—that progress and substance rather than rhetoric and good intentions will be the real test of his and the state's success in the coming months.

Committee streamlining could improve Senate's lawmaking

Press-Record Washington Bureau—The ability of Congress to respond to the problems of the next two years may well be determined by the actions the Senate takes this month.

Democratic and Republican leaders already have been named. But permanent assignments to committees, the structure under which the real work of the Senate is conducted, will be delayed until members complete the first reorganization in 30 years.

A 12-member Select Committee on Committees, bipartisan in makeup and leadership, has proposed changes that would improve the Senate's productivity in developing policy on important problems, lead to savings in the operating budget and, in general, increase Senate efficiency.

The primary objective is to reduce conflicting demands on the time of individual senators.

The contemplated reorganization would reduce the number of standing committees from 31 to 14.

Each senator would be limited to no more than two standing committee assignments, a maximum of five subcommittee assignments, and a single assignment to a special committee. Subcommittees would be reduced from 174 to less than 100.

Roll call votes would be prohibited, except by vote of the Senate, before 2 p.m. Committees and subcommittees would be required to meet between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The current overlapping of functions and the proliferation of multiple assignments create time-wasting confusion and, according to the recommendations, "produce piecemeal policy."

Some senators have as many as 30 assignments, with simultaneous committee hearings frequently competing with quorum calls for their attention.

Under the reorganization, no senator would have more than eight assignments, reducing the need for massive and costly staffs.

The plan will be opposed by senators who cherish their power and by special interests loath to give up cozy relationships with committee members and staff.

But it will test the leaders on their willingness to bring the Senate up to performance standards suitable to cope with the challenges of the 1970's.

Thief activity dealt a setback by operation of fake 'fence'

It has long been known that "fencing"—the purchase and resale of stolen goods—is an integral part of and a stimulant to the high volume of thefts occurring across the nation.

A healthy degree of uncertainty about "fences" now has been injected into local crime activity, thanks to a successful ten-month operation by federal agents of a "swap shop" in Venice.

The vicious nature of supposedly minor crimes is illustrated by the vast number of stolen articles sold to the shop, totaling $50,000 in greatly-reduced values. Hard-earned necessities and luxuries were stolen from law-abiding citizens, and in some instances lives were placed in jeopardy by the tactics that were utilized.

Saved-off shotguns, illegal weapons whose only use is to recklessly spray lethal pellets over a wide area, were among the many guns confiscated. Other loot included autos, cameras, citizen band radios, bicycles and television sets.

We tend to agree with those who blame "fences" as much as robbers and burglars for the too-prevalent disregard for property rights and freedom to pursue life, liberty and happiness without interference from wrongdoers. Without an ability to quickly sell stolen merchandise, there would be much less incentive to steal and rob.

In this case, the shop operators were on the side of the law, hiding their true identity except to the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, and the Illinois Bureau of Investigation and the Venice Police Department.

All who participated deserve high praise for their patient, skilled and courageous devotion to the cause of effective law enforcement.

Youth crime concern

By CLARENCE M. KELLEY
Director

Federal Bureau of Investigation
Juvenile criminality is a crisis of staggering dimensions with profound implications for our nation's future.

The statistics concerning this category of crime offenders are grim.

In 1975, for example, one out of every four persons arrested in the United States was under 18 years of age.

Individuals in this age group comprised 23 percent of all arrests for violent crimes, 43 percent of all arrests for serious crimes, and almost half of all arrests for property crimes.

One of every ten persons arrested for murder had not reached the age of 18.

During the period, 1969-75, arrests of young offenders for serious crimes increased 144 percent.

Youngsters from virtually every economic stratum, cultural setting and social milieu are represented in these tragic figures.

Characteristically, however, they tend to represent male adolescents from broken homes, set amidst impoverished conditions in teeming inner cities—environments where temptations involving drugs, alcohol, gambling, and petty thievery abound, exerting a strong influence on the course of their lives.

Although extensive study has been afforded this major aspect of our social problem, it continues to pose a highly complex and formidable challenge—one that substantially relates to the fundamental structures and processes of our society.

Clearly, the most desirable approach to juvenile criminality is one of prevention.

Efforts to strengthen the basic positive influences of family, school and neighborhood should certainly be encouraged and advanced.

Social and religious institutions dedicated to building character, inculcating sound moral principles, and promoting personal responsibility and self-discipline should receive broad community support.

Wherever possible, recreational programs, vocational training, and opportunities, counseling services and employment possibilities for youths should be improved or expanded.

Far greater attention should also be given to reducing the opportunities and temptations that lead to youthful criminality.

In relation to the police function, there must be continuing effort to keep abreast of youth problems and needs and to fully utilize community referral programs. Efforts should be made to establish and maintain positive contact with teenagers groups, particularly youth gangs.

"He's beginning to smile and take nourishment."

Its handling of errand youths, officers should avoid imposing any unnecessary stigmas.

Sizable police departments should have specially trained juvenile officers constantly available, as well as separate professional, para-professional and volunteer staffs.

Of major importance, too, is the vigorous enforcement of laws against drug pushers and others who exert a corruptive influence on our youth.

Law enforcement, of course, constitutes only one element in the juvenile justice system—an overburdened entity whose primary mission must be narrowed to dealing with the most serious offenders.

Toward this end, greater attention must be given to decriminalizing status offenders (such as truant, runaway and ungovernables) and diverting the minor and, where prudent, nonviolent offenders.

These options naturally depend on the availability of sufficient alternative resources and facilities in the community as well as properly trained professional, para-professional and volunteer staffs.

Services of this nature must also be soundly administered and coordinated with the juvenile justice system.

For those serious offenders who are repetitive and dangerous to others, society must—for its own protection—adopt a firm stance.

In these instances, the deterrent value of swift apprehension, certain prosecution and effective sanction should not be minimized.

The safeguards of due process must, of course, attend each step of the process, and rehabilitation should be an ideal goal.

These are only a sampling of measures considered desirable for preventing, curbing and handling juvenile criminality.

If there is to be any hope of succeeding in this endeavor, communities throughout the nation must be prepared to commit the necessary resources to support such measures.

When sound families, quality schools, decent neighborhoods, adequate community youth services and an efficient juvenile justice system become the norm in every American community, the prospects are good that juvenile criminality will become what it should be—an infrequent aberration.

attention must be given to decriminalizing status offenders (such as truant, runaway and ungovernables) and diverting the minor and, where prudent, nonviolent offenders.

These options naturally depend on the availability of sufficient alternative resources and facilities in the community as well as properly trained professional, para-professional and volunteer staffs.

Services of this nature must also be soundly administered and coordinated with the juvenile justice system.

For those serious offenders who are repetitive and dangerous to others, society must—for its own protection—adopt a firm stance.

In these instances, the deterrent value of swift apprehension, certain prosecution and effective sanction should not be minimized.

The safeguards of due process must, of course, attend each step of the process, and rehabilitation should be an ideal goal.

These are only a sampling of measures considered desirable for preventing, curbing and handling juvenile criminality.

If there is to be any hope of succeeding in this endeavor, communities throughout the nation must be prepared to commit the necessary resources to support such measures.

Stores confident in '77 but worry about cost rises

"Conditioned to inflation, continuing energy crises and sporadic merchandise shortages, retailers generally look with confidence to the year ahead," said Hugh E. Muncy, president, Illinois Retail Merchants Association, in referring to results of IRMA's annual retail forecast.

"Some merchants who had reservations about business growth in 1977 are waiting to see how effectively President Carter provides stimulation for the economy," he added.

Muncy said retailers concurred that increased operating costs are in the future and that these costs will cut into profit.

"Food retailers are particularly concerned about high labor rates resulting from recent union negotiations. The current round of supplier price increases has some merchants wondering whether manufacturers are catching up with costs or bracing for a price freeze."

"Retailers are turning to new technology, such as computers and scanning devices to increase operating efficiency and thereby hold consumer prices in line, the survey indicates."

"Most frequently given as an uncontrollable factor that could overturn predictions is the extent of government involvement in day-to-day retail operations."

"The survey points out that merchants expect consumers to continue to be price-conscious. They are also aware that shoppers are looking for more than quality merchandise at a low price. Retailers see the consumer of 1977 looking for attractive, exciting surroundings with alert, knowledgeable sales people to assist them with their selections."
